LAKELAND PLANS TO OPERATE ROAD

Waycross, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Lakeland, the county seat of Lanier county, which recently purchased the Milltown Air Line railroad, has applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to operate the road. This railroad runs from Lakeland to Naylor on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, being the only rail connection Lakeland has. It is expected, however, that the line from Waycross to Ray City will soon be completed, giving Lakeland another rail outlet. This last road is being built by Alex K. Sessions, of Cogdell.

ATLANTA SAFETY COUNCIL TO MEET HERE DECEMBER 2

O. R. Bennett, of the Georgia public service commission, and Chairman of the Georgia Safety Council J. E. Bodenhamer, of the Georgia security commission, and T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, have been working on plans for the coming meeting of the safety council here on December 2.

The meeting is to be held in the senate chamber of the state capital. While the program for the meeting has not been completed, it is expected that Justice Marcus W. Beck, of the state supreme court; Louis Marquardt, of the Georgia Federation of Labor; Frank E. Shumake, vice president of the Georgia Power company, and A. May, of the American Mills company of Atlanta, will be on the program.

The council will organize for a year of activity in the promotion of safety first programs among employees in industry and school children. Motion pictures showing safe and unsafe methods of handling machinery and crossing of railroad tracks are to be prepared, it is said, and presented with lectures by members of the safety council at schools and other places where young people and industrial employees meet.

SOUTHERN INSTALLS AUTOMATIC CONTROL

Automatic train control apparatus was placed in service on the line of the Southern Railway system, between Atlanta and Birmingham, 167 miles, Friday, according to announcement by Vice President R. B. Pegram, giving the most modern device for the protection of trains on the Southern's four main lines leading out of Atlanta: to Cincinnati via Chattanooga, to Jacksonville via Macon and Valdosta, to New Orleans via Birmingham, and to Spencer, N. C.

The train control apparatus is designed to enforce obedience to signal indications and will stop a train in case the engineer is incapacitated or runs by a signal in the stop or caution position.

Since January the Southern has equipped 2,265 miles with train control.

BILLION SUBSCRIBED TO RETIRE U. S. BONDS

Washington, November 11.—(P)—More than a billion dollars have been subscribed for the $100,000,000 of seven months 3-1/8 Treasury certificates intended to retire the outstanding second Liberty bonds. The books were closed Thursday.

The certificates will be issued on November 15, the date of maturity for the second Liberty bonds. Treasury officials indicated today that there would be no further financing until the regular March quarterly issues.

"MUSICAL AMERICA" DEVOTES ARTICLE TO LOCAL OPERAS

Nashville, Tenn., November 11.—(P)—A monument commemorating the Battle of Nashville, the last engagement of the Confederate army in Tennessee in the civil war, was dedicated a few miles south of here this afternoon.

The Confederates under General Hood were routed December 16, 1864, after an unsuccessful siege of Nashville, held by General George H. Thomas. What was left of the army of Tennessee joined General Johnston in the Carolinas.

Their flight was covered by two divisions of General Stephen D. Lee's corps, which had been holding the sole road to retreat. The monument marks the approximate site where Lee's center came to grips with the federal forces.

TWO FATALITIES IN AUTO CRASHES ON VIRGINIA ROADS

Norfolk, Va., November 11.—(P)—Two persons met death and two others received serious injuries in automobile accidents near this city today.

Preston Gallamore was killed and S. D. Moore and Edward Ashlin seriously injured when their automobile struck a concrete post on the Virginia Beach boulevard in a dense fog. Lester Allgood died of injuries at a local hospital following an accident at Moyock, N. C.

W. C. WILLBANKS, WIFE SLAYER, DIES AT STATE PRISON

Death has robbed the state prison at Milledgeville, Ga., of another inmate, it was learned Friday. W. C. Willbanks, former Atlanta policeman, died of heart trouble Thursday, after having served almost a year of a sentence of 10 to 20 years, on a charge of killing his wife.

Funeral services for Willbanks will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Christian church. The Rev. R. K. Stauffer will officiate and interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE FOUND GUILTY OF AUTO THEFT

Albert Richards and Ruby Williams were tried and convicted Friday in United States district court on charges of violating the national motor vehicle theft act. The jury suggested leniency for Richards, and Judge Samuel H. Shibley sentenced him to pay a fine of $300 or serve six months. Judge Shibley sentenced the Williams woman to serve 12 months.

In the same case a woman named Cleley Williams pleaded guilty in May and was sentenced to 12 months in the Floyd county jail. The trio was charged with bringing a stolen automobile from Gadsden, Ala., to Charleston, Ga. Richards said that the two women picked him up in Gadsden with the automobile.

JACKSONVILLE WOMAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Jacksonville, Fla., November 11.—(P)—Mrs. George J. Wallace, of this city, was killed, her daughter Edna and three other persons slightly injured when two automobiles collided on the Lake City highway near Marietta this morning.

George Harris, negro driver of the car which collided with the Wallace car, was placed under arrest by county officers following the crash and is being held for investigation. The negro was only slightly injured.

Liquor Car Seized

Lynchburg, Va., November 11.—(P)—An abandoned automobile of an expensive make containing 326 quarts of bottled in bond whisky and bearing a New Jersey license plate was found by police today on the Piedmont highway ten miles south of here. The car was confiscated and brought here under its own power. Nothing is known of the owner.

CROWDS INCREASE AS FINISH NEARS FOR FOOD EXHIBIT

As the seventh annual pure food show at the auditorium draws near its final closing hour tonight, reports from officials in charge show a steady increase in attendance during each day of the week's exhibition. Friday night many thousands thronged around the hundred attractive booths included in the show and it is probable that even the big auditorium will be strained to capacity to care for the Saturday night visitors.

Three hundred or more exhibitors have joined forces to make this the most interesting food demonstration ever staged in Atlanta and, as a result, the thousands of Atlanta housewives are better equipped for their duties providing and preparing the diet of their families.

Daily cooking schools conducted by Mrs. J. H. Merritt have been a feature of the week, while many of the exhibitors are giving away tasty samples of their products at the various booths. New ideas in foods and their preparation are found on every side and the real fascinating story of human diet is told in displays and demonstrations that are almost unbelievably interesting.

Georgia apple producers won first prize Thursday night in an exhibitors' pageant.

Governor L. G. Hardman was a visitor to the show Thursday, which was designated clubwomen's day.

Progressives Win Victory At Typo Meet

Indianapolis, November 11.—(P)—A complete victory for the progressive element of the International Typographical union was indicated here today when results of a referendum vote on six changes in the constitution were announced at national headquarters. The changes were proposed at the diamond jubilee convention of the organization here last August.

The proposals adopted were as follows:

To dissolve trade district unions, and affiliate all subordinate unions directly with the international union.

To change the date of the convention from August to September.

To establish the term of representatives of members and of trustees at five years.

To provide that vacancies in elective offices be filled by election instead of appointment.

To provide a rate of dues for all classes of members and to require every one working to pay pension and mortality assessments.

To specify how amendments to the constitution may be initiated and submitted to referendum.

LAST TENNESSEE CIVIL WAR BATTLE IS COMMEMORATED

Nashville, Tenn., November 11.—(P)—A monument commemorating the Battle of Nashville, the last engagement of the Confederate army in Tennessee in the civil war, was dedicated a few miles south of here this afternoon.

The Confederates under General Hood were routed December 16, 1864, after an unsuccessful siege of Nashville, held by General George H. Thomas. What was left of the army of Tennessee joined General Johnston in the Carolinas.

Their flight was covered by two divisions of General Stephen D. Lee's corps, which had been holding the sole road to retreat. The monument marks the approximate site where Lee's center came to grips with the federal forces.

TWO FATALITIES IN AUTO CRASHES ON VIRGINIA ROADS

Norfolk, Va., November 11.—(P)—Two persons met death and two others received serious injuries in automobile accidents near this city today.

Preston Gallamore was killed and S. D. Moore and Edward Ashlin seriously injured when their automobile struck a concrete post on the Virginia Beach boulevard in a dense fog. Lester Allgood died of injuries at a local hospital following an accident at Moyock, N. C.

W. C. WILLBANKS, WIFE SLAYER, DIES AT STATE PRISON

Death has robbed the state prison at Milledgeville, Ga., of another inmate, it was learned Friday. W. C. Willbanks, former Atlanta policeman, died of heart trouble Thursday, after having served almost a year of a sentence of 10 to 20 years, on a charge of killing his wife.

Funeral services for Willbanks will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Christian church. The Rev. R. K. Stauffer will officiate and interment will be in Hollywood cemetery.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE FOUND GUILTY OF AUTO THEFT

Albert Richards and Ruby Williams were tried and convicted Friday in United States district court on charges of violating the national motor vehicle theft act. The jury suggested leniency for Richards, and Judge Samuel H. Shibley sentenced him to pay a fine of $300 or serve six months. Judge Shibley sentenced the Williams woman to serve 12 months.

In the same case a woman named Cleley Williams pleaded guilty in May and was sentenced to 12 months in the Floyd county jail. The trio was charged with bringing a stolen automobile from Gadsden, Ala., to Charleston, Ga. Richards said that the two women picked him up in Gadsden with the automobile.

JACKSONVILLE WOMAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Jacksonville, Fla., November 11.—(P)—Mrs. George J. Wallace, of this city, was killed, her daughter Edna and three other persons slightly injured when two automobiles collided on the Lake City highway near Marietta this morning.

George Harris, negro driver of the car which collided with the Wallace car, was placed under arrest by county officers following the crash and is being held for investigation. The negro was only slightly injured.

Liquor Car Seized

Lynchburg, Va., November 11.—(P)—An abandoned automobile of an expensive make containing 326 quarts of bottled in bond whisky and bearing a New Jersey license plate was found by police today on the Piedmont highway ten miles south of here. The car was confiscated and brought here under its own power. Nothing is known of the owner.

GOVERNMENT WINS FIGHT FILMS MOVE

Refusal of United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter to quash the search warrant on which the Dempsey-Tunney fight films at the Metropolitan theater were seized, and intimidation by District Attorney Clint W. Hager that criminal prosecution will probably be instituted in the case, Friday featured the developments in the contest between federal authorities and the theater.

Holding that probable cause to support the warrant was shown in the affidavits, and that evidence was sufficient to show that the films violated the federal statute prohibiting the sale of motion pictures depicting the sale of human beings, Judge Ledbetter sustained the legality of the search warrant, and remanded the fight films to the custody of Louis H. Crawford, United States marshal.

James H. Branch, of Branch and Howard, counsel for the theater and for Frank H. Hicks, who is named in the warrant as an alleged conspirator, stated Friday night on the conclusion of the hearing that the case will be carried back up to Federal Judge Samuel H. Shibley in an appeal from Judge Ledbetter's decision. Judge Shibley recently held that the seizure was legal, but suggested that the commissioner who issued the warrant should be the one to hear the motion to quash the warrant.

In the course of his argument Friday afternoon, Mr. Hager for the first time since the fight film contest began publicly intimated that indictments will probably be sought in the alleged conspiracy and the prosecution in federal court may ensue on the charge.

Counsel for the theater and Hicks introduced character witnesses against D. H. McGee, film booking agent on whose affidavit the warrant was sworn out, and also introduced witnesses in an effort to prove that McGee had stated that he was mistaken in Hicks' identity when he said Hicks had told him the films were Hicks' personal property and that Hicks was responsible for bringing them to Atlanta.

Frank Hicks was placed on the stand and claimed that he purchased the films at Luckie and Forsyth streets from a man named McCullough, paying McCullough $1,000 for three reels. He said that he had registered at a local hotel under an assumed name, and that he kept the films with him night and day except when they were being exhibited at the Metropolitan. He claimed that he was contracted with the Metropolitan to show the films on a percentage basis.

CHADWELL HEADS WAREHOUSEMEN

Ernest T. Chadwell of the Herri-ford-Chadwell company of Nashville, was elected Friday morning to the presidency of the Southern Warehousemen's association at the closing session of a two-day convention at the Henry Grady hotel. From point of attendance and interest displayed, the meeting here was the most successful in the history of the organization, officials announced.

Four regional vice presidents were elected as follows: A. H. Laney of Jacksonville; George H. Harris of Birmingham; Theo King of Chattanooga; and John Wilkinson of Charlotte, N. C. T. E. Cathcart of Atlanta was chosen secretary, while E. M. Bond of Nashville was named to the treasurer's post.

New Directors Named.
Directors were announced as follows: J. M. Walker of Memphis, W. T. Callahan of Miami, John J. Woodside of Atlanta, J. P. Ricks of Jackson, Miss.; L. J. Moeller of Montgomery, Ala.; A. A. Botts of Louisville, and J. W. Edelen of Knoxville. Much constructive work and interest of the merchandise and household goods industry was accomplished at the session, according to Henry

Reimers of Chicago, executive secretary of the National Warehousemen's association.

Another speaker at the closing meeting was J. M. Walker of Memphis, who pointed out that southern warehousemen must have at least one year's membership in the local organization to be eligible for membership in the national association.

While the next convention city was not selected, this matter will be cleaned up when the board of directors meets in the near future to select an executive secretary to fill a vacancy caused by the recent death of D. R. Benedict of Nashville.

STETSON HAT CHIEF VISITOR IN ATLANTA

J. Howell Cummings, president of the John B. Stetson Hat company, spent Friday in Atlanta covering with local dealers in the well-known product of his concern and sizing up business conditions in this section. He came here from California after making a tour of southern cities, and left Friday night for Philadelphia.

"This is just one of my regular business trips," Mr. Cummings told The Constitution, "and while I have not been in Atlanta in several years, I am impressed with the number of splendid improvements to be seen on every hand."

Business conditions in this section seem to me to be in good shape. I can see nothing to hold things back and I look for excellent business in Atlanta as well as in Georgia and the southeast."

ADMIRAL MAGRUDER WILL SPEAK TODAY

Washington, November 11.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, who is on waiting orders as a result of his published charges that the navy was extravagantly operated and over-organized, left today for Pottsville, Pa., where he will address an organization of newspapermen tomorrow.

Admiral Magruder is expected to discuss the navy and U. S. American merchant marine and he said that he also would mention the number of navy yards which he believes to be in excess of the needs of the naval establishment.

CONVICTED BIGAMIST GIVEN 2 TO 4 YEARS

Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, Friday morning refused to follow the recommendations of the jury which found Sidney Vance Rodgers, former locomotive engineer, guilty of bigamy and recommended that the charge be treated as a misdemeanor.

A verdict of guilty was returned late Thursday afternoon by the jury after it had deliberated on the case less than an hour and the jurors fixed the punishment at not less than two years and not more than four, with the recommendation that the charge be treated as a misdemeanor.

Judge Howard sentenced Rodgers to serve from two to four years' imprisonment but declined to give a misdemeanor punishment, declaring that Rodgers had not only committed an offense against his first wife but had committed a crime against the marriage relation of society as a whole.

The charge against Rodgers was brought by Miss Ruby Ross, of Waycross, who claimed that Rodgers married her in Atlanta in April, 1926, at which time, it is alleged, he had a wife and family residing in Fitzgerald. The loyalty of Rodgers' first wife to him was a feature of the trial. She sat at the defense table with her husband and four little children and steadfastly maintained her belief in him.

Poland's Brighten-Up First Award Winner In Food Show Pageant

Poland's Brighten-Up Thursday night won the prize for the most unique act presented at the seventh annual commercial pageant on the stage of the Atlanta food show, prizes having been offered for various stunts put on by exhibitors.

The Brighten-Up act consisted of a pantomime in which all girls connected with the Brighten-Up corner took part, featured by Miss Marie Koulsen, of Luxembourg. While the pantomime was in progress the hand struck up "Brighten the Corner Where You Are" and the audience joined in singing.

Mexican General And Local Bride Are Visiting Here

After several narrow escapes from probable death in Mexico City, Mexico, similar to that meted out to their personal friend, General Arnulfo Gomez, and two other revolutionist generals, Quintana and Serrano, Garcia Haviar and his wife, formerly Miss Aileen Bricker, prominent Atlanta society girl, arrived in Atlanta Friday and will be the guests of Rev. and Mrs. L. O. Bricker, at 1085 Peachtree street.

Mr. Hevia, a general in the revolutionist army, was saved from death at the hands of a squad of federal troops by a timely warning from a friend of General Obregon, who told Mr. Hevia the paper bearing the signature of the revolutionist had been found. The paper was discovered by federal authorities early in October and was signed by Mr. Hevia at the time he was named a general.

Mr. Hevia and his wife left Mexico City on midnight October 5, after entry into the United States had been arranged by a letter from the Mexican secretary of the interior. They made the trip via Laredo, Texas.

Mr. Hevia owns considerable property at Pueblo, near Mexico City, but what has happened to that property is not of any present concern to him. He stated immediately upon arriving in the city, "The ranch and other property may have been confiscated, but we are here alive and can worry about the property later on," he said. Although a supporter of the cause and a general in the revolutionist army, Mr. Hevia took no active part in the opposition to the Calles government.

CONTROL OF SAN JOSE SCALE DAMAGE URGED

A bulletin describing methods of control of the San Jose scale, an insect pest attacking peach and apple trees, has just been issued by the state board of entomology. Charles H. Alden, assistant entomologist at the Cornelia Experiment station, is author of the bulletin. Serious damage to fruit trees has been done by the pest and control of the scale is urged by E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist.

Armistice Day Clouds To Stay Over Saturday

Lowering clouds which held a threat of rain over Armistice day festivities here Friday will return today, bringing a possibility of light and scattered showers this afternoon, thinks C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist.

The outlook is for unsettled and generally cloudy weather, followed Sunday by a moderate drop in temperature.

Mercurial extremes here Friday ranged comfortably between 67 and 59 degrees, while those of today are expected to approximate these figures. Misty rains here for the past 24 hours accounted for a scant .02 inches precipitation, Mr. von Herrmann said.

ANARCHIST ABER TELLS OWN STORY

pause while bodies were heaved overboard in the usual sea burial coffin of canvas and a weight, while we lay on deck gazing for a cool breath of air, sick with the sight of food full of maggots and worms . . . it was awful.

Crowd 1,200 men together on a small ship and you've got trouble on your hands. There were fights among the men, and I was in my share of them. For I had a small section of the men to command, and I had to make them respect me by the rule of the fist and club.

OFFICERS' FISTS WIN RESPECT.

There was one fellow that gave me all kinds of trouble until I managed to get him where I wanted him one day and while the daylight was out of him. From then on, he gave me a wide berth, and the respect of the other men for my fighting abilities deepened. The fights generally took place in the midst of a milling throng, with a little cleared space for a ring, and believe me, some of the spectators got in almost as many blows as the combatants. All things come to an end finally, and so we crossed the equator and the Southern Cross replaced the Dipper. The men drilled every day, and with the goal approaching closer, the men picked up in spirits. My section of men continued to give me trouble, however, as the Liverpool cockney is a tough, wiry little type of man who would rather fight than eat. He does not understand the art of using fists alone, but believes in fighting with hands, feet and teeth to gain victory. I was compelled to show them that I could lick any man jack among them, and before we were put ashore I had the best section in the regiment.

There were quarrels over everything—the food, the bunks, the water—and men tell right and left before the onslaught of the officers to preserve order. The troops cursed the day they were born and wished they had never seen the ship, but little good it did them, and we soon were at Capetown, landing in the fall, December being summer and

Sidney Smith, Progenitor of Andy Gump, Sees Storms Ahead for Philanthropist

COMPLICATIONS, MISERY TO HAMPER GIVING AWAY OF BILLION

Sidney Smith, at the left, shows Lewis Gregg, staff artist of The Constitution, how he does the Gump cartoons, and takes a shot at caricaturing Gregg himself.

Although Andy Gump's attempts to give away a billion dollars to help humanity may appear to be fanciful and far-fetched at present, the famous cartoon series of The Gumps soon will show that the redoubtable Andy is going to find himself against some real and common human weaknesses, according to Sidney Smith, creator of The Gumps, who left Friday afternoon for Florida after enjoying a two-day visit to Atlanta.

"Andy Gump and the other characters in the strip are human as near human as I could make them, and they have appeared in few episodes which were of a nature which could not happen to an ordinary family," Mr. Smith said. "In his present efforts to give away a billion dollars

July winter in the southern hemisphere.

We headed for Pretoria and week after week marched over a country that was destitute of water and food. Conditions were about as bad as they were on the troopship, with the additional curse of a 14-hour march every day. Horses died, and as fast as they dropped we turned them into food.

Meanwhile, we were heading into more than we had bargained for, an adventure beside which the hell hole of a troopship paled into insignificance. Our thoughts were not upon the future, however, as we had to fight our way through thousands of bushmen and had to forage for food where there wasn't any food, for we were sometimes days ahead of our supplies, what little there were.

Back of us there was a trail that led over thousands of miles of land and water, a trail of broken hearts and broken bodies—of death and disease—of torture to soul and mind—and ahead was Pretoria—and Ladysmith.

ON TO PRETORIA, THEN LADYSMITH.

Our regiment was badly equipped. The British government had never before fought guerrilla type warfare and consequently did not realize that the heavy guns we had were useless in South African campaigns. Horses dying rapidly forced us to scout for oxen to pull the guns to Pretoria and Ladysmith, where a small colony of English were in danger from the Boers.

Spies in our employ reported that there were plenty of oxen at a village 60 miles away, so, taking a squad of 24 men, one of the officers led us to this place and we were fighting our way back to the English column when we ran across an English woman 65 years of age, whose husband originally a German missionary from the Lutheran church, had been killed by natives. She had been mistreated by the Boers and so we took her with us.

On our reaching Pretoria we had found 300 refugees in this little trading post, which is now a big city, now capital of the South African colonies. The officers were told that the British Army is going to become very miserable in the end, and many of the beneficiaries will become miserable through the gifts they receive."

Mr. Smith said the effort to give away a billion dollars will bring about complications which will make the ordinary human being much more satisfied with his lot. That is the moral. It will show that the richest best enjoyed are those that are honestly earned or honestly received, and that the wish of every person to have millions would not be so general if the accompanying hardships were better known.

"Every episode will have its moral and will depict some distinctly human trait," Mr. Smith said.

The famous cartoonist, accompanied by Mrs. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Miller are on their way from Chicago to Florida. Thursday night they were entertained at a dinner at the Biltmore hotel by Francis W. Clarke, managing editor of The Constitution, and Mrs. Clarke. After a dinner an informal reception was held which was attended by many friends and admirers of the cartoonist, whose strip is one of the leading features of The Constitution, as it is the country over.

Mr. Smith and his party were guests at a luncheon Friday at the Capital City club, given by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution.

After expressing their keen enjoyment of their visit to Atlanta, Mr. Smith and his party left Friday afternoon for Macon and Florida.

LADYSMITH WON BY HARD MARCH.

The Boer was a dirty fighter, and would give no quarter. His modus operandi was to hold a line for a short time and then drop back. Each time he left food and after a number of our men were poisoned by it we learned to leave it alone. Every water hole was poisoned, and the Boer sent his women behind our lines, knowing that we would feed them at our expense. The grass had been burned and our animals had hard sledding for food. We lost on an average of ten men a day.

When a Boer would become sick or wounded he would surrender and whine for mercy, but when they captured one of our men they would act like brutes. Many of our troops who were captured started to death, although they were given plenty of food. I know of a number of cases where our men were captured, given extremely inhumane treatment and sent back to us as broken men. One of the Boer's favorite tricks was to take the hats of their prisoners away, the men going crazy under the brilliant sun without the protection of a hat. Hundreds of Boer prisoners can show the scars made by bull whips.

After the Boer was driven into the Transvaal he armed the negro savages from the north and offered a reward for our death. Many a Tommy died at the hands of a Hottentot who took the Britisher's hat to claim the "death bonus." We could trust no one, and when the rains came, men died of malaria like rats. Boer food was sent us, and our ammunition was no good. The men talked of mutiny as we were downhearted in every way. My regiment had only 500 men left, and we had changed from artillery to infantry. Men in the British Isles refused to enlist, and things came to a standstill. If we became ill we died, for we had no medicine.

Then an order came to fight like the Boer did, in small units. In this way, after 11 days' fighting, we reached Ladysmith and found about 200 refugees there. We built temporary forts around Ladysmith and were entrenched with the volunteer forces we found there.

We were at Ladysmith. The outfit was worn out and ragged. Food was scarce, though we found plenty of water at the post. Native runners were dispatched to the colonies asking for relief, and we waited, 1,200 strong, and with only 40 days rations with us. Thus began seven months of starvation and privation.

Serjeant Leshey was my a and we were the best of friends. He had seen service in India and was a survivor of Lucknow. As a drillmaster he was hard to beat, and I still laugh when I remember how he handled the men. Water was scarce on this march and along the way we found a plant which resembles the American cactus, only it is very dry and swells when in water. Orders were given that we were not to allow the horses to eat the plant, but one of the men took pix on his horse and let the animal eat it. When we got to a water hole that evening we unhitched the animals and the drivers took them to water.

This particular horse drank its fill and on the way back to camp the driver yelled at me to come and help. The horse had lain down and was beginning to swell. The plant had swelled like dried apples under the water. Serjeant Leshey stood by with a foolish look on his face, and all he could say was, "Gee, blime me!" The horse was in agony, and to relieve its suffering I shot it.

Leshey afterward said to me: "Just to think. The blooming slink sat down in the road, looked me square in the eye, swelled and burst. God, what a "bunny" country."

Many a Tommy died at the hands of a Hottentot who took the Britisher's hat to claim the "death bonus." We could trust no one, and when the rains came, men died of malaria like rats. Boer food was sent us, and our ammunition was no good. The men talked of mutiny as we were downhearted in every way. My regiment had only 500 men left, and we had changed from artillery to infantry. Men in the British Isles refused to enlist, and things came to a standstill. If we became ill we died, for we had no medicine.

found about 200 refugees there. We built temporary forts around Ladysmith and were entrenched with the volunteer forces we found there.

We were at Ladysmith. The outfit was worn out and ragged. Food was scarce, though we found plenty of water at the post. Native runners were dispatched to the colonies asking for relief, and we waited, 1,200 strong, and with only 40 days rations with us. Thus began seven months of starvation and privation.

PRESIDENT READY FOR COMPROMISE

program despite the disagreement between representatives of the farm organizations on the form of a bill, Senator Steck, democrat, Iowa, at the same time, issued a statement assailing Senator Brookhart for not supporting the vetoed McNary-Haugen measure and questioning the interest of the western bloc in farm relief.

At the white house it was declared Mr. Coolidge is of an open mind on a farm bill except for his views on the equalization fee and pending the advancement of a compromise he still favors the general plan for promotion of cooperative marketing, as set forth in his messages to congress.

The export debenture proposal of the National Grange was put before him yesterday by L. J. Taber, master of the grange, but it was said the president had never given it much consideration because it seemed to have little support in congress.

Favored by Borah.

Coolidge believes, however, this plan, which would permit the use of tariff receipts for meeting the cost of marketing surplus crops, deserves study. While the proposal is not regarded favorably by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, former chairman of the agriculture committee, it has been looked on with some favor by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, who has been invited by the National Grange to address its convention next week.

Hopes for an agreement among the farm organizations by action of their approaching convention was expressed by their leaders after their unsuccessful efforts here Wednesday and yesterday, but the president feels congress can well go ahead on farm legislation regardless of this situation.

Atlanta's Airport

By Ben Cooper

Pitcairn Arrives Today.

In order to confer with Postmaster E. K. Large and other Atlantans relative to submitting a bid on the Atlanta-Miami air mail route, Harold F. Pitcairn, president of the Pitcairn Aviation company, of Philadelphia; G. S. Childs, vice president, and James G. Ray, operations manager, are expected to arrive in Atlanta today from Florida by railroad.

Mr. Pitcairn and Mr. Childs have been visiting Jacksonville and Miami for some time, and were joined several days ago by Mr. Ray, who flew a new Orovig Pitcairn biplane to Candler field from the factory and then took the train for Florida. The party was in Miami Thursday inspecting the airport there and conferring with postoffice authorities regarding the contract route. The company already holds the Atlanta-New York contract.

Three new Pitcairn planes arrived at Candler field Friday afternoon from Spartanburg, S. C., where they had been held up for a day by adverse weather conditions, fog and cloudy weather making flying difficult. The new ships include a Fleetwing, General Executed.

Mexico City, November 11.—(AP)—Former General Silvanio Garcia was executed at Tlatizintla, state of Vera Cruz, Wednesday morning, after a court-martial had established his complicity in the Gomez revolt, it is announced officially.

He was invited by the National Grange to address its convention next week.

and M. P. Hanscom, service manager, in charge of the flying. The commercial flying will be incidental to the air mail flying, which is to start in March when the airway lighting is completed by the department of commerce.

Building Activities Boom.

Erection of Beeler Blevins' new hangar at Candler airport is proceeding at a rapid rate. Carpenters have formed the roof trusses, and within a few days will erect the trusses on the pillars. Meanwhile, the frame of the new city rest station has been erected, and the house will be completed within a few weeks. Carpenters are at work building lockers and a stockroom in the Pitcairn hangar, and the work of leveling the floor of the hangar has started.

BOTH PARTIES SEEK CONVENTION CITY

Washington, November 11.—(United Press.)—Leaders of both parties are arranging preliminaries for the 1928 presidential campaign. The most pressing question in both parties is the selection of convention cities. Lively contests are in prospect on both sides among proponents of the various cities seeking these great national political spectacles.

Conditions favor middle western cities in each case although bidding is not confined to cities from that section.

Chairman William M. Butler, of the republican national committee, is here arranging for the national committee meeting December 8 when the location of the republican national convention will be decided. Applications must be in by November 15. Cleveland, Chicago and Kansas City are favored by many party leaders. San Francisco had been virtually agreed on before Coolidge announced he did not choose to run and the prospective candidacy of Herbert Hoover, of California, led some of his opponents to object to taking the convention into his stronghold. However, the far west is active and San Francisco is not yet eliminated. Detroit, Minneapolis, Denver and several other cities are to be considered.

The democrats are planning to make their meeting here in January 1928 because of a big Jackson day dinner to be attended by most of the party leaders. The last one was in 1920 when league and anti-league leaders brought their differences to the fore. There has been some apprehension lest the appearance of Al Smith this time might bring internal differences to the surface. However, it is felt by many leaders that if the dinner is held all of the representative leaders must be invited, including Smith.

Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit are after the democratic convention with a good chance. St. Louis or Kansas City would be in favor except that opponents of Senator James A. Reed want to keep the convention away from Missouri. However, in view of the condition of the democratic exchequer, party leaders are inclined to consider chiefly the size of the purse offered by the host cities with less regard for other factors.

ATHENS COLLEGE GETS CHILD WELFARE FUND

Athens, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Announcement of the donation of the sum of $50,000, covering a five-year period for work in child study and parent education at the State College of Agriculture was made here today by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the college.

Dr. Soule stated that the fund has been appropriated to the college by a nationally known foundation that is much interested in child welfare work throughout the United States.

The fund, according to Dr. Soule, will make possible the creation of a child welfare department at the college which will be in charge of a group of trained specialists in child welfare work. The course will be open not only to the students of the farm college, but will also be available to the students of the University of Georgia and to the Summer school students, it is announced.

The child welfare department will deal with the study of all phases of child life, health, feeding and a general study of the preschool child. The fund provides that the sum of $4,000 be spent for initial equipment for the work and the department will be given out with a modern laboratory.

The department is being organized now and will be ready to function by January 1, Dr. Soule states. The personnel of the staff has not been selected, it is stated.

Dr. Soule states that the donation will mean much for Georgia as it will enable the college to create a department of child welfare, in which will be felt all over Georgia, not only for child study but for observation by parents also, it is said.

It is announced that the fund will be paid out during the five-year period as follows: $10,750 for the period beginning July 1, 1927, and ending June 30, 1928; $10,750 July 1, 1928; $10,000 July 1, 1929; $7,500 July 1, 1930; and $7,500 July 1, 1931. This fund will total $56,000 and with the $4,000 donation for equipment, totals $60,000.

Farm Head Dies.

St. Joseph, Mo., November 11.—(United Press.)—W. R. Jones, 75, president of the American farm congress, died here today.

CONSTIPATED SO BADLY DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO

All kinds of medicine failed—then ALL-BRAN saved him!

Read this tribute from a grateful user:

"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN now for about a week and a half. I was so badly constipated that I didn't know what to do. One day I read about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and I decided to try it. It did me good and I am feeling like a new man. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN really saved me!"

Very thankful,
C. D. Farris, Argo, Ill.

Constipation ravages health. Check it before it takes hold. Soak through your system. Bloated skin, unpleasant breath, headaches—are just a few vile symptoms.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will relieve constipation permanently. Two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream and add fruit or honey. Ready to eat. Use in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

Colorful Parade and Many Fine Farm and School Exhibits Are Features at Opening of Heard County Fair at Franklin

5,000 Citizens Gather and See Progress of County Depicted in Fine Displays.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
Staff Correspondent.

Franklin, Ga., November 11.—More than 5,000 Heard county people christened the new Heard county fair at Franklin Friday and saw in a wide variety of displays the onward progress of the diversification movement and likewise saw what a community of home owning farmers can do in carrying out a well-planned program of intensive agriculture.

At the same time they enjoyed a unique fair. A fair in which family relics and mementos, the quilting and fancy work of old grand dames, the posters and cutouts of school children, the prize cakes of proud cake bakers, the luscious preserves of bustling housewives, attracted as much attention as the fine blooded cattle and hogs, the rich, ripe grains and vegetables of the sturdy husbandmen.

Unique County.

Heard county is a unique county. It has no railroads within its borders. For a century it has been isolated from the beaten paths and here the people have preserved more carefully old Georgia traditions than in some of the more prosaic sections of the state. It is a county of 100 years ago plus the new spirit of progressive agriculture which brought to the fair today as fine a quality of corn, potatoes, pumpkins, melons, sugar cane, peppers, fruits and melons, cotton and all kinds of truck products as can be displayed in any county in the south.

From the Southeastern Fair to the Fort Valley Peach festival and from the recent centennials of several Georgia counties to the seasonal exhibits of the coast, Georgia offers each year many fine and attractive displays. It is none that is exactly like the one that was presented here for the first time Friday.

For a main exhibit building the Heard county courthouse, which was built in 1894, was used. The building around the courthouse lawn was studied with pig pens in which prize hogs were exhibited. In a store building opposite the courthouse, the prize hogs were exhibited. In a barn around the corner was the cattle show. The speaking program was carried out on the courthouse lawn while 2,000 Heard county citizens gathered around the grounds in a long parade. The tax collector's office, the sheriff's office, the ordinary's office and other courthouse offices were open to the public. The county white strings of yellow pumpkins, baskets of squashes, ketches, kashaws, gourds, sorghum, corn, and other products of the county were on display. The jury box was covered with displays of posters from the primary school rooms while the children of the county were on display. The parade of home-made candy and cake displays that would make an eminent jurist himself declare a recess were on display.

Schools Display.

Twenty-one school districts of Heard county sent displays to the fair and these displays, containing everything from crayon notes to flint knives, time and effort were expended in preparing each display and the ensemble effect of all of them on the visitors was impressive. Combined the displays revealed the story of the remarkable progress of the county that has come to this progressive county in the last few days and at the same time depicted the history of the people whose families have lived in the county for more than 100 years.

School districts represented were Centralbush, Cornith, Cocksville, South Grove, Ephesus, Franklin, Glenn, Simpson, State Line, Union, Unity, Waverly and Welome. The very names themselves bespeak the homely, sociability of the fine people of Heard county. "Liberty," "Union," "Unity" and "Welome." And the quaint poetry of "Rockvale," "Glenn," "Pleasant Hill." With their exhibits these districts sent nothing but groups of sturdy boys and girls, well dressed and neatly clothed, with well fed tummies and good appetites to enjoy the first big event that has taken place in this county in years.

Out on the public square P. T. McCutcheon, who has run a small newspaper here for 43 years and who has served his state as superintendent of printing and in other capacities, was busy keeping the speaking program operating and directing several other activities in connection with the fair. Congressman W. C. Wright was rising to supreme heights in some oratory that evoked enthusiastic cheers while school children and fair visitors moved here and there to care on the numerous exhibits. The Dawson band from LaGrange played a concert while the local hamburger and wieners stand proprietors worked several extra shifts serving supplies. Over in the corner of the square a pitman was holding the attention of a cluster of people while on a doll rack on "knock-the-baby" down was doing a flourishing business.

Progress Shown.

"In holding this fair this year we have tried to show the people of the state what a successful diversification program can do for the farmers," Mr. McCutcheon said. "We also want to show the advantages that come from the consolidation of schools throughout the county. We want to show what 'live-at-home' families can do on the farm, in school and in extra activities. The exhibits in this building today were prepared largely by

Several hundred Heard county citizens gathered at Franklin Thursday and witnessed the opening of the farm and school fair. Thousands Attend Opening Of Savannah River Bridge

Elberton, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—With thousands of citizens of Georgia and South Carolina present, the 1,500-foot reinforced concrete bridge between Elberton and Abbeville counties, spanning the Savannah river, was christened today at 11 minutes past 11 o'clock by Miss Ida Calhoun, a descendant of John C. Calhoun, breaking a bottle of champagne over the bridge.

The bridge, which is the longest of its kind in the world, was dedicated to the memory of soldiers from Elberton, Georgia, and Abbeville, South Carolina, who gave their lives in the world war. Its opening not only unites two important sections of South Carolina and Georgia, but it also marks the near approach of the completion of an air line highway extending from Athens, Ga., through central South Carolina and thence into North Carolina and to the Atlantic coast at Wilmington.

The bridge is said by authorities to be one of the most beautiful structures of its kind south of Washington. Reinforced concrete construction was used throughout.

Many Georgia Cities Hold Armistice Day Exercises

Macon, Ga., November 11.—(United Press.)—Macon today was the meeting place of a number of veterans of the late war who took part in a mammoth parade at noon, observing Armistice day by exercises at the Albany theater, where Governor Osborn's address was the feature of the program.

The Georgia chapter, Rainbow Division Veterans, met here today in annual session. Jerry Lowe, Macon, was elected president of the chapter, succeeding Boyce E. Miller, Macon, and Julian T. Poole, Macon, was made first vice president; Charles T. Eden, Macon, second vice president, and Bernard Howard, secretary-treasurer.

Quite a number of the members of this famous division who served in France were present and a big celebration was enjoyed during the morning. The chapter marched in the Armistice procession in a body. Most of them wore the same uniforms they wore in France.

The football game this afternoon between Mercer and Oglethorpe also brought many visitors here today.

CONGRESSMAN EDWARDS SPEAKS IN SAVANNAH.
Savannah, Ga., November 11.—(United Press.)—The local post of the American Legion observed Armistice day with exercises in Johnson square. The principal event was an address by Major J. R. Fawcett.

The Federal Order of Eagles had an Armistice day program tonight at the municipal auditorium with an address by Charles G. Edwards, congressman from the First Georgia district, as a feature.

The day was observed as a holiday by the banks and some of the public offices of Savannah.

OSBORN SPEAKS AT ALBANY.
Albany, Ga., November 11.—(United Press.)—Former Governor Chase S. Osborn, of Michigan, was the speaker at Albany's Armistice day celebration. Governor Osborn, during his trip from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., in order to accept the invitation of the Albany post, American Legion, to make the address of the day here, will return to Michigan tomorrow before coming back to his south Georgia home.

Mrs. John M. Anderson, president of the Willie Hunt Smith chapter of the United Confederate Veterans, delivered several service songs to service men.

The members of the legion, the Gold Star Mothers and Confederate veterans met for a luncheon at the Woman's club house.

THOMASTON PLANS COOLIDGE IS HIT $75,000 HOTEL BY FARM LEADERS

Thomaston, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—A modern hotel is in prospect for Thomaston following a meeting of the Kiwanis club when a number of citizens agreed to raise $25,000 and R. E. Hightower agreed to raise the remaining $50,000 needed to build a hotel on the public square to the hotel company.

The task of raising the funds will begin at once and work is expected to start soon on the $75,000 hotel.

Jerome Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, made an inspirational speech at the Kiwanis meeting. A number of citizens from Zebulon attended the meeting in connection with the proposal to organize a Kiwanis club in that city.

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, on behalf of the group of western independent republican senators, declared that the inability of the farm organizations to agree does not excuse the president from keeping "the pledge of his party to extend farm relief."

At the same time, Senator Steiwer, democrat, Iowa, completed a lengthy statement declaring that Senator Brookhart and the western group of senators who are actually hindering enactment of farm relief because Brookhart and some of the States are not in the majority.

Senator Brookhart insisted that responsibility for farm legislation "rests with no less weight upon both congress and the president."

"It is the duty of congress to solve this problem," he said. "The same pledge was made by both parties and if the president refuses to proceed with the solution of this problem, I want to ask the democratic and republican congress to prepare a bill in accordance with their pledges to the farmers of the United States and join together and pass it over a presidential veto."

Stating that he recognized the importance of the farm organizations, Senator Brookhart said that only about one-third of the farmers of his state were members of the national American Farm Bureau federation and the farmers' union, which met here this week in an unsuccessful effort to agree on a farm bill.

"The farm organizations are human," he said, "and they have human jealousies that oftentimes prevent an agreement among farm leaders. I am sure that the national farm organizations are not promoted by outside selfish interests. To refuse to keep the pledge upon pretext of disagreement among any farm leaders is an unexcusable excuse for failure to perform the plainest public duty that was ever promised to the farmers of the United States."

Practical Joke Declared Cause Of Man's Death

Chester, Pa., November 11.—(United Press.)—A practical joke today caused the death of Michael Garis, 39. Two fellow workmen in a dye house, but what they thought was a lump of saltpeter in a cup of coffee which Garis drank. It turned out to be a deadly poison.

The workmen, Richard Stewart, 18, and Harold Swore, 19, were held without bail for a preliminary hearing in police court.

Indiana Grocer Is Dead From Cut By Piece Of Cord

Delphi, Ind., November 11.—Grant H. Walters, 64, Delphi grocer, is dead from a cut caused by a piece of string.

Last Saturday he was at work in his grocery when the string on a package which he had wrapped cut his throat. The wound was regarded as trivial at the time, but blood poisoning developed.

EMORY BASS SPEAKS AT BARNESVILLE.
Barnesville, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Armistice day was observed here Friday, all the business houses closing during the exercises at Gordon and Gordon, where Emory B. Bass, of Albany, former state commander of the Georgia division of the American Legion, delivered an address.

Mrs. John M. Anderson, president of the Willie Hunt Smith chapter of the United Confederate Veterans, delivered several service songs to service men.

The members of the legion, the Gold Star Mothers and Confederate veterans met for a luncheon at the Woman's club house.

THOMASTON PLANS COOLIDGE IS HIT $75,000 HOTEL BY FARM LEADERS

Thomaston, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—A modern hotel is in prospect for Thomaston following a meeting of the Kiwanis club when a number of citizens agreed to raise $25,000 and R. E. Hightower agreed to raise the remaining $50,000 needed to build a hotel on the public square to the hotel company.

The task of raising the funds will begin at once and work is expected to start soon on the $75,000 hotel.

Jerome Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, made an inspirational speech at the Kiwanis meeting. A number of citizens from Zebulon attended the meeting in connection with the proposal to organize a Kiwanis club in that city.

Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, on behalf of the group of western independent republican senators, declared that the inability of the farm organizations to agree does not excuse the president from keeping "the pledge of his party to extend farm relief."

At the same time, Senator Steiwer, democrat, Iowa, completed a lengthy statement declaring that Senator Brookhart and the western group of senators who are actually hindering enactment of farm relief because Brookhart and some of the States are not in the majority.

3 YOUTHS INDICTED FOR DRUG THEFTS

Theft of more than $30,000 worth of drugs and toilet supplies in a series of burglaries from John R. Daniel, Inc., wholesale druggist, on Wall street, was charged in six indictments returned Friday afternoon by the Fulton county grand jury against three Atlanta youths.

Those indicted are: Paul and Glenn Rivers, brothers, and Leon Kirkpatrick, who were charged with taking $2,547 worth of goods and the other indictment named the brothers as co-defendants, alleging they stole $312.25 worth of articles.

Aspirin tablets, razor blades, face powder, cosmetics, etc., in wholesale quantities are said to have constituted the bulk of the stolen merchandise.

The grand jury was told by witness that the youths maintained an office in a downtown office building equipped with desks, telephones and other office supplies, and that they received orders for drug supplies.

Burglaries Started June 10.
The series of burglaries extend over a period of time from June 10 to October 7, according to evidence gathered. Entrance into the company store is said to have been gained by climbing the roof of an adjoining building and then going down through an opening in the roof of the drug store.

One of the Rivers youths was recently arrested at the drug store while in the alleged act of "pulling" another burglary. His brother was seen by detectives a short distance from the store on the same night sitting in his automobile. A confession is said to have been secured from one of the youths, implicating the other two.

No definite date for the trial of the cases against the youths has been set but their cases will be placed on the calendar at an early date, according to attaches of the solicitor's staff.

charged against him and has demanded an open hearing in court.

On the basis of evidence revealed by the government it has thus far failed to show that any of the Burns detectives actually talked with jurors. The nearest connection it has found was that detectives investigated relatives of jurors and noted on their movements and looked up the holder of the mortgage on one juror's home.

The Burns detectives were paraded before the jury today for identification but whether any juror recognized the men was not revealed.

SHELDON CLARK COMFORTS FRIENDS.

Washington, November 11. (AP)—"My friends may sleep soundly; they need not worry," is the attitude taken by Sheldon Clark, the Sinclair oil official, charged with conspiracy in connection with the jury tampering investigation growing out of the Fall-Sinclair mistrial.

"I am conscious of the fact that when a man of my ordinary prominence in the business world elects to stand on his constitutional rights, even though it is merely a technical case, the public probably will get the impression that he has something to conceal," Clark said.

"I have not. At the proper time and in the proper manner that will be shown."

"I was in Washington the other day and left for Chicago in a perfectly open and regular manner. I woke up to find I was a fugitive from justice," which was news to me.

"I feel that while I have nothing to conceal, this case is being tried in the newspapers. Because of my position in this big oil organization I don't feel that it's fair to those with whom I'm associated, regardless of myself, that I should at this time subject myself to a barrage of questions that may or may not be pertinent to this inquiry. For that reason, and not because I have done anything as a citizen of the United States which deserves adverse criticism (as will appear at the proper time), I have availed myself of the only method known in the law for temporary protection of my constitutional rights."

The charge against Clark was placed after he had refused to testify before the federal grand jury.

NATION PAYS HONOR TO ITS WAR DEAD

Unknown Soldier lying in Arlington national cemetery. The tomb of this hero became the mecca toward which patriotic pilgrimages turned to pay homage.

President Coolidge led the American people in rendering honor to America's symbol of all the dead of the war. Without ostentation he journeyed to Arlington and placed a wreath on the impressive tomb. Mrs. Coolidge laid a single white rose beside it.

Canada's Tribute.
A short distance away the people of Canada presented to the people of America a cross of sacrifice in memory of American boys who died in Canadian uniforms before the United States entered the war.

To emphasize the bond of friendship between the two countries 200 Canadian soldiers were permitted to march through Washington streets bearing arms, marking the first time British troops have so paraded here since the war of 1812.

On the high hill where Bethlehem chapel of the national cathedral stands, Woodrow Wilson, the dead war president, was accorded his share of the honors by those who annually go on Armistice day to hold memorial services at his tomb.

Ceremonies Impressive.

Lacking the wild aspects of the original Armistice day, the ceremonies in many American cities were impressive. In New York, Chicago, Washington and many other places the traditional two minutes fall to business activities was ordered at 11 o'clock. Chicago's celebration surpassed anything except the spontaneous outburst when the Armistice was signed. There were parades in every section of the city, and buzzers throughout the downtown area sounded taps when the hour was reached.

To augment the period of silence which was generally observed throughout the land, there were solemn exercises in many cities. The eternal light in New York furnished the setting for a ceremony at which Mayor Walker spoke and school children sang patriotic hymns.

Sadness in East.
A touch of sadness enveloped the celebration of the day in flood-swept New England. Although in Vermont, the day is normally a holiday, the sorely pressed population could give only ten minutes to its observance while it was in the midst of a struggle of rehabilitation.

In nearly every large city in the nation services were held and floral tributes laid with veterans' organizations leading in the arrangement of the programs. General Pershing was a guest at Cleveland where 2,600 patriots were gathered. Other prominent figures of the world war participated in exercises in various cities.

A feature of the day was the unveiling at Pittsburgh of a table in memory of President Wilson. Mrs. Wilson was present to see it received. While business was not generally suspended throughout the country, there was an appreciable memorial day aspect hovering over the activities of the people who wanted to express their gratitude at the ending of the war nine years ago.

Colorful Picture.
The brilliant red tunics of the Canadian guard detachment and the royal Canadian regiment band, flanked across the way by the trim lines of the full strength company of American infantry in sober olive drab that was the honor escort for the visitors, made a colorful picture on the broad grass-grown sweep of hill beside the memorial amphitheater where the new monument to American valor stands. And at one point in the ceremony, when the killed pipers of the Canadian 48th Highlanders swung at half step up the hill and back with the wail of the lament they played resounding in the high arched roof of the amphitheater, there was not a whisper or a movement among the thousands of spectators packed around the roped off field.

The actual presentation ceremony was brief. Vincent Massey, first Canadian minister to the United States, delivered the memorial to Secretary Kellogg with scarcely a hundred words and the reception was as short. Yet, in the addresses that followed by Honorable J. L. Ralston, Canadian defense minister and Secretary Davis, of the war department, ran a strong current of the friendship of the two peoples, symbolized in this tribute to hallowed American soil to Americans who died and sleep in France with Canadian comrades.

"Who can express what their comradeship meant, particularly in those early days," the Canadian spokesman said; while Secretary Davis pictured the death of the Americans to whom the cross was raised as the "latest and most precious offering on the altar of our mutual friendship."

At the Episcopal cathedral, in remembrance of Woodrow Wilson hundreds came to dress the tomb of the war president with flowers and masses of colorful autumn leaves, among them his daughter, Mrs. William G. McAdoo.

PERSHING SPEAKS AT CLEVELAND, OHIO

Cleveland, Ohio, November 11. (AP)—General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the A. E. F. during the world war, was here today for Cleveland's Armistice day celebration.

An informal reception for the famous general at American Legion headquarters, a parade of former doughboys and ex-soldiers to public hall and a luncheon there for 2,600 guests, with General Pershing the principal speaker, was the program.

KING GEORGE ATTENDS ENGLISH CELEBRATION.

London, November 11. (AP)—Once again the great silence of the Armistice hour fell on London and spread to the farthest corners of the empire as Britain paused today in a gesture of remembrance for her million dead of the world war.

Ceremonies at the cenotaph with King George, his sons and high officers of state present, opened the day of commemoration and through the hazy afternoon and far into the night, a procession of those seeking to honor the war dead wound along Whitehall and through Westminster Abbey where is the Grave of Britain's Unknown Soldier.

The crowds which converged on the cenotaph and Westminster Abbey from all parts of the city and surrounding country were estimated to be even larger than those of last year. Queen Mary, who presided at the ceremony at the cenotaph from the balcony of a building in Whitehall while King George, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, taking part in the ceremonies placed the first wreaths at the foot of the monument.

A great torchlight procession of 2,000 veterans from Albert hall to the cenotaph made tonight's observance of the day spectacular.

The prince, attending a song service at Albert hall at which 10,000 persons were gathered, broadcast to the empire an Armistice day message.

THOUGHTS OF FRANCE TURN BACK TO WAR.

Paris, November 11. (AP)—All France turned back its thoughts to the war today and to the armistice which put an end to the great struggle.

Along the great battle line from the channel to the foothills of the Alps, towns and villages that were wiped away by the holocaust of war stood resurrected, bright with flags and busy with the coming and going of civilian life.

In the forest of Compiègne, at the very spot along the railway track when the armistice was signed, the dining car in which this event took place was the scene of a ceremony at which Marshal Foch was the principal figure. The event was the dedication of a building, erected with funds from the United States, to shelter the car.

In Paris there were of course more French flags to be seen than any kind, but the stars and stripes ran a close second. There were far more American flags than those of any other foreign country. On this day last year

VETS HONORED ON ARMISTICE DAY

Atlanta on Friday joined with America and the allied nations in celebrating the ninth anniversary of Armistice day which brought a victorious peace to democracy's champions.

Activities of the day were climaxed by a giant mass meeting at Five Points during the morning. Promptly at 11 o'clock, the hour when those guns of the western front were silenced, a new flag was unfurled and raised to the strains of the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Thousands stood with heads uncovered while the flag, presented to the city by Atlanta post of the American Legion, was run up by a detachment of United States marines. Mayor J. N. Ragsdale, of Atlanta, represented the city at the ceremony, while Colonel E. D. A. Pearce, commandant of the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C., and marshal of the day, was in charge of the military program.

Infantry in Column.
Between closely packed ranks of spectators along Peachtree, the parade moved to a disbanding point before the Henry Grady hotel. Formed shortly prior to 11 o'clock at the Grady monument, the column included several companies for the twenty-second infantry from Fort McPherson and the local post of American Legionnaires followed by the Salvation Army in full force. The procession was led by the twenty-second infantry band. The musical organization of the Salvation Army also was in the line.

While Armistice day ushered in a ceaseless round of activities for virtually every patriotic organization in the city, the American Legion here was officially in charge of the program.

Mounting enlistment totals and a steady increase in influence and scope of Legion policies effected through nine years of maturity since a universal peace turned the A. E. F. from war to civil life was forcefully evinced at the "victory luncheon" which climaxed Armistice day activities of the local post.

Legion Gains 500.
Preliminary reports on the recent membership drive, delivered to the adjutant by Adjutant Frank Hays, placed the total at 500 new enrollments.

Following the legion's luncheon rally at the Henry Grady hotel, the membership assembly at 2:30 o'clock in the house of representatives hall.

There were not so many of them to be seen in Paris, but since then Premier Poincaré has headed the franc, Lindbergh and Byrd have spanned the air from the one republic to the other, the American legion has held its convocations in Paris and the subject of war debts has been kept off the front pages—all of which have made a great difference in the feelings of M. Jean Dupont, as the man in the street is known in France.

at the state capital to witness presentation of service and honor crosses to veterans by the Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The Georgia theater was the next gathering place at 4:30 o'clock, at which the local post, as guest of the management, put on a special speaking program. The day's events pointed to a final legion rally Friday night, when membership lists were totaled as part of a national drive which closed at that time.

900 Members Added.
Final results tabulated at the meeting, which assembled some 100 legionnaires at the Chamber of Commerce building, showed that more than 900 new members were signed up during the intensive drive of the past week. While Asa Warren Candler, state commander, announced that incomplete returns from Georgia revealed a total of 3,500 additional enrollments.

Announcement of final figures ended a spirited contest between opposing membership teams here. The "Red" division won over the "Blues," and the leaders of the victorious group, Harry Wallerstein, was presented with a handsome silver cigarette lighter.

Other prizes were awarded to Dr. H. C. Hardgrave and Dr. O. E. Herndon, best individual workers of the "Red" team, while Ellis Carswell, Peter Brantley and Arthur Diagon, leaders of the "Blue" squad, came in for consolation trophies in the shape of gold pieces and what nots.

The most successful poppy sale ever conducted here netted over $4,000 for the service fund to be administered through the local post to needy ex-service men, according to the report made at the gathering by Mrs. Asa Warren Candler in charge of poppy distribution and state chairman of the poppy sale committee.

While individual subscriptions struck an average beneath the usual figure, some idea of the tremendous popularity of the appeal, carried to every quarter of Atlanta by a band of patriotic women, may be gained from the total number of subscribers, placed at 40,000 persons.

Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, as chairman of the Atlanta poppy day committee, directed the sale.

Resolutions were indorsed at the meeting conveying thanks of the Atlanta post for the poppy day work of the auxiliary branch, and in particular to Mrs. Candler and Mrs. Hazzard.

Approximately 150 members of the American legion were in attendance at the "victory luncheon." A powerful appeal for preparedness and an eloquent tribute to fallen heroes was voiced by Major General Richmond P. Davis, new commander of the fourth corps area and speaker of the day.

"Forgetful, as is an age-old trait, and America has been too quick to forget the lessons of the last war," General Davis said. "It is the same old story of drifting again into careless practices now that peace prevails the nations."

As legionnaires it is your duty to preach and practice preparedness. Practical accomplishment of this idea can be best effected through the citizens' military training camps, the reserve officers' training corps and the reserve corps.

"It is also necessary that you strike with fury the insidious propaganda of pacifism and communism. While these influences are limited in scope, they are spreading gradually to all quarters of America."

Frank Kempton, as commander of the local post, presided at the meeting, which was turned over to Basil Stockbridge, first commander of Georgia legionnaires and director of the day's program.

The luncheon drew a large attendance of army officers from local posts, including Colonel Pearce, Lieutenant Colonel George F. Baltzell, commander of the twenty-second infantry; Colonel William O. Roswell, executive officer; Colonel Duncan K. Major, chief of staff of the fourth corps area, together with representatives from local army and navy recruiting stations.

Ceremonies at the state capital Friday afternoon were presided over by Miss Lillian Henderson, chairman of the service and honor cross committee from the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C. More than 50 crosses were presented to veterans of the Atlanta post of the American Legion.

Frank Kempton and Basil Stockbridge made short talks at the meeting. Mrs. Stafford Seidell, president of the local chapter, U. D. C., was in charge of arrangements, while Judge Max E. Land was spokesman for Confederate organizations.

10 Hens Lay 10 Eggs a Day

Winter doesn't stop Mr. Henry's hens

Readers whose hens are not laying well during these days of high egg prices will find much of interest in the following letter from C. D. Henry, Alverton, Pa. He says:

"I placed 10 pullets by themselves, and from them Don Sung. The third day my eggs increased from 3 to 9 a day. They have had Don Sung ever since and have laid continuously. Yesterday I got 10 eggs from them and am willing to make affidavit to it. Don Sung certainly gets the eggs. It has laid for itself many times over."

Don Sung, the Chinese egg laying tablet which Mr. Henry used, are opening the eyes of chicken raisers all over America. The tablets can be obtained from the Burrill-Dugger Co., 402 Postal Station Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. Poultry raisers whose hens are not laying well should send 50 cents for a trial package (or $1 for the extra large size, holding three times as much). Don Sung is positively guaranteed to do the work or money promptly refunded, so it costs nothing to try. Right now is the time to start giving Don Sung to your hens so you will have a good supply of fresh eggs all winter.

Phoney Smith's Petrels vs. Mercer to Victory Over Petrels

Ogethorpe Many Important Tilts Bows to Bears Stated in East Today By 21-6 Score

Mercer Star Plays Farewell Game Before Macon Fans.

BY WHITTNER CARY.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.

Macon, Ga., November 11.—(AP)—

Coming day and day's day were all

ing style here this afternoon when the Mercer Bears sent the Ogethorpe

Petrels back to Atlanta with three distinct and melancholy memories of the season. A 21-6 defeat, an object lesson. Mr. Phoney Smith's ability to gallop long and fast and a first-hand view of the work of a certain back by the name of Wilton

Alderman were the three mental pictures that stood out in boldest relief

as the gallant band began the trek

over the homeward trail.

While their hearts may be heavy over those defeat days, their supporters, and they were legion in that crowd of 6,000 which sat under a beautiful autumn sky, can point to several bright chapters in the conquest that is now football history. One is that no less than four times in that first half the Mercer players leaped back a Bear thrust when the goal line was threatened. Another is the splendid ground game of the Ogethorpe during the afternoon and the player who made the plunge in that third quarter that gained the one touchdown for the Petrels. And still another is the heroic drive that the Petrels staged during the closing moments of the third quarter and the opening minutes of the final stages, a drive which took them from their own 18-yard mark to Mercer's 14-yard line. A drive that saw

Garlington in the leading role, ably supported by White and Vaughn, and which threatened for a time to sweep

all before it.

Dad Says Phoney Play.

Phoney Smith's father, who calls himself "Uncle Buddy," and who came

all the way from far-off Fayetteville,

Tenn., to see his boy make his final gallop before a Macon audience tonight, can look back over that long trail that starts at the stadium and ends at the home of the Ogethorpe

and finished at the stadium and feels satisfied for his effort. For Phoney lived up to his reputation.

This thing of his up to his proposition is a pretty good proposition at times. Many occasions see the actor so well guarded that the show is a flop. Now Phoney may have had better and more brilliant days in his career at Mercer. To some of the Macon folks who have been schooling in his uncanny ability to gallop through an opponent's line and his performance against the Pet-

rels may have looked a trifle dim compared to former exhibitions. But to

"Uncle Buddy" and your humble correspondent, and in all probability to the Ogethorpe team, he did plenty.

Being closely watched, this great back started off with a rush in the first quarter, but he was held back after gain. Not any particular long gallies, but having enough distance to show that he was taking a decided interest in the game. The next time he was in the game, he was going to see the sun go down on

Armistice day and on a day that has been partially dedicated to himself

New York, November 11.—(AP)—Championship hopes hung in the balance tonight as eastern football teams all along the line mobilized for the most important battles of the season on the morrow.

Remarking a rivalry dating back to 1872—the oldest of the day—Princeton's inexhaustible and untold eleven prepared to tackle Yale at the huge New Haven bowl in a struggle for survival

among the top teams of the east.

Strung to fighting pitch by loss of its star, Bruce Caldwell, through eleven hours of ineffectual play, Yale tonight was even before to stop the Tiger in a battle before 72,000 spectators.

Another Big Game.

With promise of equally as large a crowd at the Yankee stadium, the eight cavalry of Notre Dame deployed for battle with the heavy howitzers

of the Army in one of the most colorful intercollegiate spectacles of the year. Army has been beaten only by

Yale and Notre Dame's single sign of human vulnerability was a tie with

Minnesota last Saturday.

Eastern football will be pitted against western in two other battles of giants—the Navy against Michigan

at Ann Arbor and unbeaten Pittsburgh against Nebraska on the home field of the Panthers.

Tennessee follows point to the fact that "Butch" has not made a bad pass

in his three seasons of varsity play,

while on the defense he has intercepted passes frequently and has backed up a line in such a way that he has often heartened his mates to grasp close by inspiring them to greater heights. He intercepted five passes

in the game against North Carolina

this year.

Shane has played in practically every game the Commodores have engaged in since he first donned a Gold and Black uniform.

The two are almost evenly matched

in their line of play, with the Commodores

leading in scoring 181 pounds and Butcher 181.

Richmond, Va., November 11.—(AP)—

The Quantico Marines' undefeated

football team kept its streak today

by adding a 39-10 defeat of Wake service team's experienced grid warriors. The Marines, through superior bulk, battered their way to victory. Tackle

William, 182 lb., scored the first touchdown. The service team's experienced grid warriors unceremoniously double pass which kept the North Carolina Demons going throughout the game.

Johnnie, a splendid interference Marine ball carrier skirted the ends and plowed off tackle at will in the first and third quarters.

The Marines' line, while outwitted and outplayed, was not outgotten. The Deacons kept the contest from being a listless affair by scoring a touchdown in the second quarter and fourth quarters. Shortly after the opening of the first period the collegians annexed 3 points when the Commodores scored a field goal

on the 20-yard line.

CENTRAL HIGH BEATS T. H. S. BY 6-0 COUNT

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 11.—

Chattanooga High's well-conditioned

eleven, leaders of the local prep league, defeated Tech High of Atlanta, here

this afternoon, 6 to 0, and continued its unbroken series of victories which will win claim to southern championship honors.

The maroon and white outfit, which has earned the name of "Ironmen," since a combination of eleven men

is usually sufficient for a whole game, scored the only touchdown of the game

in the first quarter and then withheld

the powerful Smithy attack through to the end.

Superiority in line play provided the opportunity in the early minutes of the game for the maroon touchdown and then balked all Smithy attempts to score in the later periods.

The City High touchdown came on a short pass. Tucker to Cox, after a 70-yard drive with Skidmore and

Cherry alternating on a delayed play

though the Smithy guards had advanced the ball to the Tech 10-yard line.

Symphony Orchestra Players Pledge Finest Performance

When the Atlanta Symphony orchestra launches into the program arranged for the benefit concert to be given Sunday afternoon at Keith's Georgia theater, every man in the organization will be committed to giving the finest performance of his entire association with the orchestra. Each individual player on Friday declared that the rehearsals had assured a performance that would set new artistic standards for the organization.

Conductor Enrico Leide added his own comment to that of his men, declaring that he had never before welded a baton over 70 men so enthused over a program as these.

The concert is being given entirely as a benefit, with the purpose of paying off all the back debts of the symphony association, to clear the financial sheet for a new start for the season of 1928-29. This is the only performance which will be given this season.

Seats are selling fast at Phillips & Sons piano company, Peachtree and Ellis streets, where the box office will remain open all day today until the close of business. After that hour seats may be procured at the box office of Keith's Georgia theater.

Every man in the orchestra has given his services freely for this concert, in order that the $3,000 in back debts of the association may be wiped out—a goal that will only be reached if Atlanta comes through today and buys the remainder of the seats in the big theater. Nearly one-half are set unsold, with large blocks of excellent location at $1.50, the prices ranging from 50 cents to $2. The prices have been arranged so that a sold-out house is necessary to raise the needed amount.

Personnel of Orchestra.
The Atlanta Federation of Musicians gave its official sanction for the performers to give their services free. The personnel of the orchestra includes:

Tom Standing, Harry Robbins, Meyer Segal, William Crussell, Hans Kieber, E. R. Landis, Ervin Mueller, F. H. Gilbreath, H. E. Redford, Wallace Jackson, Harry Pomeroy and H. Whiteman, first violins.
William Chase, J. P. Matthiessen, Sam Proger, Merrill Wade, Edward Heinsmaier, Louis Rittenbaum, Hans Paine, A. J. Wurm, Dave Miller, Oscar C. Beam, Jr., W. B. Griffith and R. T. Paine, second violins.
Herman Eitel, Dr. C. Edward Buch-man, Karl Pathe, Walter Bearden and Raymond Lawler, violas.

Warren Bushman, Allen Walker, Jose Gasca, Edward Hulce and Charles Wharton, cellos.
Earl Fortich, C. R. Bearden, William Matthiessen, Paul Matthiessen, N. H. Carrier, Mrs. Jose Gasca, John T. Lee and A. B. Jones, bass violins.
J. P. W. Wilhoit, Frank Roman and George Wolpert, flutes.
J. Del Greco and William Myhan, oboes.
M. E. Correa and Bruce McLean, clarinets.
August Machner and J. W. Plunkett Jr., hornists.
W. Burr Holmes, Paul Davis, N. A. Ferrant and William Bustard, French horns.
Myart Kennedy, R. L. Crawley, George Gilbert and J. Matthiessen, Jr., trumpets.
Herbert Dailier, Mike Schiller and James Steele, trombones.
George Baker, tuba.
Mrs. W. R. Griffith, harp.
Harry A. Glaser, tympani; Frank Verdi, snare drum; and Dick Engelhardt, bass drum, percussion.
Enrico Leide, as everyone knows, is conductor.

Soloists for Sunday's concert include Mrs. W. J. Morrison, famous pianist; Miss E. Bartholomew, organist; and the famous harp ensemble, composed of pupils of Mrs. W. B. Griffith.

Judges Should Not Be Muzzled, Declares Judge Shepard Bryan

Emory University, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—That Georgia judges should not be "muzzled" but should be permitted to tell a jury what he thought of the evidence submitted in a case, was the declaration of Judge Shepard Bryan here tonight before the Political Science club.

Judge Bryan's subject was "Should the Judges of Our State Courts Be Muzzled?" He related the history of the law which "muzzles" judges, saying it was passed by the Georgia legislature in 1850 and is known as the "doubt act," and forbids the judge to "impute or express" an opinion of the merits of a case.

"Court courts," said Judge Bryan, "spend at least half of their time deciding steps of procedure. The procedure should be so changed and simplified that every case would be decided upon its merits."

Judge Bryan was the chief speaker at the first meeting of the club since its organization here recently. The meeting was held in the law building at Emory university and W. Neal Baird, president, presided.

Four honorary members elected tonight include Judge Bryan, Dean Theodore Jacks, Dr. R. H. McClain and Professor J. T. Corry.

The constitution under which the club will operate was read and adopted tonight.

DR. HELLER TO SPEAK AT SYNAGOGUE TODAY

Dr. Nachman Heller, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is a guest at Atlanta's Rabbi Abraham P. Hirmes and is scheduled to speak at the Ahavath Achim synagogue this morning, at 9:30 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock Sunday night. It was learned Friday, Dr. Heller, who was formerly rabbi of Harrisburg, Pa., and Charleston, W. Va., is to address the Shearith Israel congregation, of which Tobias Gefen is rabbi, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, it was said.

Keith's Georgia.
The wit and comic antics of Jimmy Allard and company, Jim McWilliams and Burke and Durkin, headlines at the Georgia this week, will cause many a chuckle after they conclude their appearance at the theater this evening. Allard's pranks and quips, and McWilliams' witty burlesque political speech, will be long remembered after their departure. Burke and Durkin, aside from their singing, provoke more laughter with their skit than most acts do. Tom Meighan stars as the district attorney who smooches gangsters in one of the bigger cities, in "The City Gone Wild."

Capitol.
Billy Beard and his line of wise-cracks and patter will entertain from Atlanta tonight with only three more shows left for the Atlanta public to see this master artist at the Capitol theater. Billy makes an annual tour, and this may be your last time to see him in a long, long time. He is supported on the bill by four other excellent acts and on the screen by "Carmen Kirby," featuring the handsome and dashing John Gilbert in the role of the most famous gambler of all time.

Loew's Grand.
Four performances will be offered Saturday of the vaudeville bill at Loew's Grand theater which is headed by Melba and her human seals. This is one of vaudeville's greatest novelty acts. On the bill also is the act of Senorita Luana Aleazzi, marvelous Spanish dancer, who is assisted by the Brazilian court Marinha and her musicians. Other acts are Jack McKay, Vincent O'Donnell, "The Miniature John McCormick," and Margie Clifton and partner in an acrobatic novelty. The Loew feature is "7th Heaven."

Forsyth.
Two more performances today, a matinee and the night show, and one of the most enjoyable plays that Atlanta drama lovers have ever witnessed will close. The Forsyth Players this week have proven their merit with their presentation of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" at the Forsyth theater. Miss Ivy Merions, appearing this week for the first time in Atlanta, has scored a tremendous hit with audiences, although the role she has requires the utmost in histrionic ability.

Howard.
Mary Pickford's latest production, "My Best Girl," is showing at the Howard this week. A 5 and 10-cent store is the highly modern background on which the star paints a glowing comedy-romance.

The theme is a pleasing variation of the ever-popular "Cinderella" type, with Miss Pickford in the role of a stock girl in the basement of the great "5-and-10-cent" establishment, and the leading man, Charles Rogers, as the son of the millionaire owner. A light-hearted humor that never reaches slapstick variety, yet which pervades the entire film, serves to carry the audience along irresistibly. "Klansy Kapers" is the name of the Publick stage show being offered by Al Short.

Rialto.
"Open Range" is a Zane Gray western which has Betty Bronson in her unusual role, closes its successful run at the Rialto theater with final showings this afternoon and evening. Along with it will close the comedy "Find the King" with Edward Everett Horton as the star. Lane Chandler, a new Paramount leading man in the western division, is Miss Bronson's leading man and Fred Kohler is the villain.

Madison.
A western comedy, packed with fun and thrills, is promised patrons of the Madison theater in "The Denver Dude," starring Hoot Gibson.

A typical Gibson picture is promised, full of all the qualities which have become associated in the public mind with this star to make him one of the screen's most popular attractions. Gibson has become noted equally for his ability to play comedy, and for his excellence at injecting thrills and action in his productions.

Ponce de Leon.
For all those who like thrillers of the highest order, the showing of "The Black Diamond Express" at the Ponce de Leon theater for today only should be of the greatest interest. Monte Blue is starred in this intensely exciting story of the rails. Railroad stories are always packed with action but in "The Black Diamond Express" fans will see the most that can be gotten out of a railroad story.

COLD WAVE HITS AT MIDDLE WEST

Kansas City, November 11.—(AP)—Indian summer fled from the middle west tonight before a fast-moving cold wave borne down from the snowy peaks of the Canadian Rockies by stiff and icy wind.

The advance of the first real winter weather of the season was heralded by snowfall in parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa and by tumbling temperatures from the Canadian border to Oklahoma.

Cold-wave warnings were issued for the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, with near-zero temperatures forecast for the northern belt. State, eastward from the Mississippi river also were in for lower temperatures.

Storm Rides East.
The storm rode east from the Rocky mountains, where snowstorms blanketed portions of Montana and Wyoming, to banish a unprecedented period of warm weather for so late in the year.

For six weeks the hand of winter had been stayed while nature exhibited the spectacle of blooming roses and trees and bushes bearing second crops of fruit in the southwest.

In Kansas City yesterday the mercury climbed to 78 degrees, a record for November 10, but a chill northwester early tonight had brought the temperature below the freezing mark. Mercury readings as low as 3 degrees above zero were forecast for tomorrow morning in Nebraska and Oklahoma, due for the first killing frost of the year.

Corn-husking operations were reported at a standstill in the vicinity of Kearney, Neb., where the first snow of the season fell today driven by a 50-mile wind.

Sleet and Snow.
Snow and sleet fell in western Kansas, and Sioux City, Iowa, also reported snowfall.

The precipitation, however, was scattered and weather forecast called for generally fair weather over the middle west tomorrow.

PATTERSON HOST TO BAPTIST FUND WORKERS

Fred W. Patterson, prominent Atlanta business man and general chairman of the Second Baptist church forward campaign to raise funds to pay off a church indebtedness, and for current expenses for a budget of $25,000 for 1928, was host to team captains and workers of the campaign at a dinner Friday night at the Henry Grady hotel.

Plans for the annual home-coming day at the church Sunday, which according to members will be one of the greatest days in the history of the church, were completed and discussed at the dinner. Rev. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the church, will have charge of the special Sunday services which will start at 9:30 o'clock and continue through the regular 11 o'clock preaching service.

Final reports of the team captains and workers will be read at the Sunday services and those who attended the Friday night dinner were gratified to learn that much progress has been made in the campaign under Mr. Patterson's leadership.

Among the speakers at the dinner were Mr. Patterson, Fred J. Paxton, Robert E. Harver, church treasurer; W. R. Brown, and Phil McDuffie. In addition to the speaking a brief musical program consisting of a number of solos and several songs by the crowd of more than 70 persons, was given.

AMERICAN LEGION MEDAL IS GIVEN TO MARSHAL FOCH

Compiegne, France, November 11.—(AP)—One of the gold medals which the American Legion gives its presidents was presented to Marshal Foch today on the spot where he signed the Armistice.

Colonel T. Bentley Mott, assistant military attaché of the American embassy, in presenting the medal, told the man who had commanded all of the allied armies that he had been elected in perpetuity an honorary president of the legion. He regretted that General Pershing, who had been intended to present the medal, had been called back to the United States.

"This medal will be for me a doubly dear souvenir," said Marshal Foch. "It will recall to me your glorious compatriots and our comrades in arms. I am always pleased to see General Pershing and also am sorry that he is not here. Tell all the American legionnaires how much their gesture touches me."

40,000 NAMES SUGGESTED FOR MEMPHIS TRIPLETS

Memphis, November 11.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ell Sharp, of Canton, Miss., parents of 15 children, didn't have enough names in stock when the last three arrived several days ago and asked the Memphis Evening Appeal for suggestions. Today they had more than 40,000 names to select from and each day two bushels of mail bring thousands more.

The nameless triplets are two girls and a boy.

$3,500 CASH FOR YOU IT'S FREE!

ONLY 4 MORE DAYS

Your chance to win is still just as good as it ever was. But don't delay any longer. Time is short. Enter today!

IT'S EASY!

"Why, it's so simple and so easy I can hardly believe it. When I first read about all the huge cash prizes which The Constitution was giving away in its great Airplane Treasure Hunt Puzzle Contest, I felt sure there must be something very difficult about it, because you don't expect to pick up a prize of $3,500 for nothing. Well, I want to tell you I was flabbergasted when I found out how ridiculously simple it all is. Why, yes, you can still enter. Of course, the last announcement will appear on November 16, so you'll have to make it snappy; but I see by today's paper that everyone who enters by next Wednesday will have exactly the same chance as all those who came in at the very beginning of the contest. Sure, go ahead, and good luck to you. Don't waste a minute. I know you'll enjoy it. You just have to

FIND THE TWO AIRPLANES THAT ARE JUST ALIKE

No, they are not all alike! Two and only two are identical and are the TWO AIRPLANES you are asked to find. Can you? To be sure, the 18 Airplanes all look alike, but look closer. How about their propellers? Some are black and some white. There are other differences, too. Only TWO airplanes are exact duplicates. Can you find them?

How to Find Them

At first glance all the airplanes look alike. But upon examination you will see that almost every one differs in some way from all the others. In some the difference may be in the black stripes on the tail of the planes and some have black radiators while others are white. Or, some have two black stars on the wings and some white and black stars. Only two are exactly alike. No, it's not as easy as it looks. You must search carefully.

Just look closely—make sure that you have found the TWO airplanes that are exact duplicates, then send in your answer. Someone who finds the right airplanes is going to win a lot of money. Make that "someone" be YOU.

$500 Extra FIRST PRIZE BE PROMPT!

Here's another great array of Cash Prizes offered by The Atlanta Constitution. That's what it is, folks—and you can be a winner. The prizes range from $1 to $35, and from $35 to $3,000; also an EXTRA First Prize of $500 for promptness. Yes, sir, you can win as much as $3,500.

Think of it! You can win as much as $3,500. In all, $7,500 in Cash Prizes may be won in this interesting puzzle contest. The contest closes December 1 and all prizes will reach the winners by Christmas. There will be 50 winners and the First Prize, the golden opportunity, is $3,000 plus $500, so that you can win as much as $3,500 if YOU ACT QUICKLY.

In the event of ties for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be awarded to each of the contestants so tied.

500 Points wins First Prize. We will give you 450 points for finding the TWO airplanes that are exactly alike. Promptly upon receipt of your answer, we will send you particulars of a Magic Word Game in which, if successful, you earn the final 50 points required to win a $3,500 First Prize or one of the 49 other Big Cash Prizes.

Memorial Association
Plans Birthday Celebration.

Mrs. A. M. D. Wilson presided over the called meeting of the Uncle Remus Memorial association Tuesday at the Woman's Club. The subject of the meeting was to perfect plans for the celebration of the birthday of Joel Chandler Harris, which is always observed in a fitting way by the association. A large picture of Mr. Harris is to be presented to every school in the city December 9. At that time the annual meeting will be held at the Woman's Club. A short business session will be held in the palm room at 10:30 o'clock, followed by the luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. Covers will be laid for 100 guests and at this time the renewal of membership is emphasized. All members of the association are invited to attend. Make reservations with Mrs. Raynor O'Kelley or Mrs. Arthur Hale. Plates are $1.

Park Street W. M. S.
Reports Meeting.

The W. M. S. of Park Street church met last Monday afternoon at the church. The exercises consisted of a talk on the life of Jesus, illustrated by colored posters given by Mrs. E. E. Aiken, superintendent of young people, Miss Betty Hadley, one of the young people, gave a talk on the conversion of Keweenaw, Mrs. C. C. Berry, superintendent of the Epworth Juniors, gave a splendid idea of the scope and kind of work.

The nominating committee named the following officers: President, Mrs. D. M. Threll; vice president, Mrs. A. H. Hale; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. J. Montague; recording secretary, Mrs. R. J. Williams; social service superintendent, Mrs. W. P. Streeter; superintendent of publicity, Mrs. G. P. Dance; superintendent of young people, Mrs. E. E. Aiken; superintendent of Epworth Juniors, Mrs. C. C. Berry; superintendent of circles, Mrs. J. O. Hardwick; superintendent of study, Mrs. R. T. Connally; superintendent of supplies, Mrs. O. T. Camp. The circles will be reorganized and the different chairmen will be named by the president.

Harvest day was observed by the Park Street W. M. S. in an all-day meeting at the church last Tuesday. The services opened with Mrs. D. M. Threll, the president, in the chair. The following program was given: The Valley institute of Pharr, Texas, was described by Mrs. O. A. Sharpless; the Lambeth Business Training school for Japanese boys and girls was delineated by Mrs. M. M. Burns; "World Brotherhood" was spoken on by Mrs. R. Stallings. After very interesting talks by Mrs. Ansley, superintendent of the Ansley baby home on Crew street, and her assistant, Mrs. Barwell, a delightful luncheon was served in the basement of the church by Mrs. F. B. Eaves and her committee.

Mrs. F. H. Johnson gave a splendid talk on the "Restlessness of the Youth of Today and Its Cure." The meeting was adjourned by prayer from Mrs. W. H. Hill.

Miss Gretchen Estes To Wed
Mr. Ware at High Noon Today

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Estes, of Decatur, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gretchen, to Augustus Candler Ware, the marriage to be solemnized today at high noon at the home of the bride-elect's parents in Decatur. Rev. Dr. Holden, rector of the Decatur Episcopal church, will perform the ceremony, which will be witnessed by members of the two immediate families. After the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. Estes will entertain at an informal buffet luncheon. Mr. Ware and his bride will leave in the early afternoon for a motor trip to Asheville, N. C. On their return they will reside in an apartment on Virginia avenue.

Jack Moore and John D. Stocker will entertain at a 'possum hunt Saturday evening at "Singing Cedars," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Channery Smith, near Chamblé. Invitations have been extended to 20 of the friends of the hosts, and the chapters include Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orme, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Major and Mrs. Heidner
Entertain at Bridge.

Major and Mrs. Samuel J. Heidner were hosts at a bridge supper Thursday evening at their home on Techwood drive, assembling a representative group of the army contingent residing in the city. Mrs. William R. Dashiell was the winner of the lady's prize for top score which was a dainty alabaster powder box. A smoking set, given for the gentlemen's prize, was won by Major John S. Hester. Twelve guests enjoyed Major and Mrs. Heidner's hospitality.

Jewish Woman's Club
Sponsors Bridge Party.

The Jewish Woman's club sponsored a bridge Wednesday afternoon, November 9, at the home of the corner of Washington and Clark streets. About 135 ladies were present and Mrs. G. F. Gottesman was chairman. Ladies assisting Mrs. Gottesman were Mrs. J. Weiss, co-chairman; Mrs. H. Mendel, Mrs. Gus Berman, Mrs. M. Cohen, Mrs. A. Kabanow, Mrs. N. Lipshutz and Mrs. Charles Buchwald.

Phi Delta Theta
Entertains at Banquet.

Members of the Georgia Delta chapter of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity of Georgia Tech were hosts at a banquet Friday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel in compliment to the freshmen and pledges, in one of the private dining rooms of the hotel, at 7 o'clock, and assembled a number of the active chapter and the alumni residing in the city. The long banquet table was decorated with azure and white carnations. Judge Price Gilbert, prominent member of the alumni of the fraternity, delivered the address for the evening and Colonel James M. Clark, also prominent in the alumni circles, made a talk. Those attending the banquet were 30 members of the active chapter at Georgia Tech, 18 freshmen and 10 alumni.

Agnes Scott Debating
Club Challenges
English Team

Pi Alpha Phi, the debating club at Agnes Scott college, has scheduled a debate with one of the two teams of Englishmen who are in the United States this year, according to an announcement made by Miss Esther Nisbet, Atlanta, president of the club. The Cambridge team travels only in the west and southwest. The team which is debating in the east and south this year is composed of graduates from the University of Reading, the University of Edinburgh and the London School of Economics and Political Sciences. It is this team with which Pi Alpha Phi has scheduled a debate for November 28. The subject chosen is "That the Only Effective Attitude Towards War Is an Uncompromising and Aggressive One."

Eight girls have been chosen to do comprehensive work on the subject. They are: Carolyn Essig, Patricia Collins, Esther Nisbet, of Atlanta; Mary Shepherd, Sewanee, Tenn.; Mary Riviere, Fort Benning; Janet Macdonald, Keyser, W. Va.; Elinor Lee Norris, Greenville, S. C.; and Georgia Watson, Thomson, Ga. From these girls the final team of three will be chosen.

Mrs. Candler Honors
Bride-Elect and Debutante.

Mrs. Walter Candler entertained at luncheon at her home in Druid Hills in honor of her niece, Miss Catherine Candler, bride-elect, whose marriage to Dr. William Warren, Jr., will be a brilliant event of November 22. Sharing honors with Miss Candler was Miss Catherine Boyd, a member of the season's Debutante club.

Assisting Mrs. Candler in entertaining were: Mrs. Howard Candler, Mrs. Cate Woodford, Mrs. Henry Heine, Mrs. William Candler and Mrs. D. T. Robinson.

Mrs. Massengale Honors
Mrs. Nathaniel Beaman.

Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale was hostess Friday at luncheon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue in compliment to Mrs. Nathaniel Beaman, of Norfolk, Va., the guest of Mrs. John Sutton, at her home in the Morningside apartments.

Mrs. Price Gilbert
Honors Visitors.

Mrs. Price Gilbert entertained at tea Friday at her home, "Ithaca," on Wesley road, in compliment to Miss Mary Wise, of Essex, N. Y.; Mrs. Donald Jones and Mrs. Daisy Shorter, Dismukes, of Columbus.

Assisting in the entertainment of the guests were Mrs. James Nunnally, Mrs. Theodore Hammond, Mrs. H. Chipley, Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mrs. Bascomb Torrance, Mrs. E. N. O'Brien, Mrs. Francis Block and Mrs. Elizabeth Thiel, Winona, Minn. Flowers from the garden of the hostess featured in the elaborate decorations in the reception apartments.

High Museum of Art
To Present Exhibits.

Exhibitions for the month of November at the High Museum of Art are as follows: First to fourteenth: Etchings and wood-block prints by Blanding Sloan, still in view; fourteenth to thirtieth: Paintings of the west and Mexico by Everett Gee Jackson. The museum is open on weekdays from 10 to 4:30 o'clock and on Sundays from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Junior Orchestra
To Hold Practice.

The Junior Club orchestra, under direction of William Chase, will hold the weekly practice in the "school room" on the fourth floor of Rich's department store Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. There are 80 members of the orchestra and the program to be given at an early date is under rehearsal. The "Pony Club" under the direction of Miss Helen Knox Spain, will hold practice at 1:30 o'clock in the same place. A program of Thanksgiving music is already under way. Any boy or girl who can sing is invited to join the chorus, and if not a member of the club may join the chorus by paying a penny each time attending.

Debutantes of 1927-28 To Model For Leon Frohsin Fashion Revue

The beauty of the winter's debutante ranks will be paraded at the fashion revue to be staged by Leon Frohsin Wednesday, November 16, at his emporium on Peachtree street. Miss Mary Louise Brumby, popular president of the 1927-28 Debutantes' club, will assist Mr. Frohsin in the direction of the two revues, which will be given at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon on this date.

Smart sports costumes, handsome evening creations, lovely gowns for afternoon wear and luxurious fur-trimmed wraps will emphasize the youthful beauty of the debutante models.

Originator of 'Moon Light' School Is Distinguished Visitor Here

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of Rowan county, Kentucky, the distinguished southern woman who was awarded the $5,000 annual achievement award offered by Pictorial Review in 1924, is in Atlanta at the Ansley hotel. Mrs. Stewart is known as "The Moonlight School Lady," who in 1911 started a world-wide campaign against illiteracy, by establishing classes, taught by volunteer teachers in Rowan county, the schools being open only on moonlight nights because "in the dark of the moon" the southern Appalachian mountains are impossible.

Mrs. Stewart was born in a humble home in the mountains of Kentucky. Her people belong to the oldest and best families in the southern mountains. This is to say that she comes of two of the oldest and best families in America, for the submerged millions who live in the southern Appalachian mountains are "one hundred per cent Americans." Mrs. Stewart's mother was a Halley, and her father's mother was a Lee, and anyone down there will tell you that the Halleys and the Lees are of the bluest blood of the mountains. This means that for generations they have perpetuated certain characteristics, but have almost invariably made them as outstanding men and women of their generation.

Mrs. Stewart's parents believed in education and gave their children all the advantages their circumstances permitted. When quite young Cora Wilson began to teach, and she has pride in the fact that she stood by her younger brothers and sisters and helped them to complete their education.

The southern mountains have given to America far more than America can ever give to the mountains. Abraham Lincoln was a backwoodsman, and Andrew Jackson, Henry Clay, and many others whose names adorn the pages of American history were from the mountains.

The example set by Mrs. Stewart has found a ready response in other cities and the influence which she has exerted in blotting illiteracy from America would be difficult to estimate. Anyone down there will tell you

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LUD HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS' Spleeny Notes

Mrs. A. is interested in the spleen and its relation to the digestive system. She is a T. T. T. All right, A. I'll tell you something about it. First let me say that I don't know how the term "spleeny" meaning lacking in gumption, or venting his spleen, got going, quite originated. I can't tell you all its functions, for they are not known. The spleen is called the mystery organ for this reason. In olden times it used to be believed to be the seat of the soul, as the organ of dreaming and sleep and melancholy and laughter. It is a lymphoid organ somewhat similar to the lymph glands. (The lymph glands are numerous tiny glands situated along the lymph stream, which acts as filters for the blood; you may be able to palpate them in the neck if you should have some infected teeth or if they should become tubercular; they are known to the laity as glands.)

The spleen is one of the largest of organs for this reason. In olden times it used to be believed to be the seat of the soul, as the organ of dreaming and sleep and melancholy and laughter. It is a lymphoid organ somewhat similar to the lymph glands. (The lymph glands are numerous tiny glands situated along the lymph stream, which acts as filters for the blood; you may be able to palpate them in the neck if you should have some infected teeth or if they should become tubercular; they are known to the laity as glands.)

passes, but the blood absorbs it as it passes through it. It is reddish-brown in color and looks a good deal like liver, and is situated to the left of the stomach right on the back of the abdominal wall, directly beneath the diaphragm (the membrane which separates the abdominal cavity from the chest) to which it is attached by a ligament. Its shape is oval, and it weighs around one-half pound.

The full functions of the spleen, as I have told you, are not known, but (1) It helps to make white blood corpuscles (leukocytes). In a certain disease known as leukocythemia, in which the white blood cells in the blood are greatly increased, the spleen is greatly enlarged.

(2) In embryonic life (with the house mouse), it helps to produce red blood corpuscles, and in severe anemia may do this after birth.

(3) It is supposed to be the graveyard of the dead red blood corpuscles, those worn out and disintegrated, and to take the iron away from them and deliver it to the liver circulation.

(4) The spleen apparently has something to do with the digestive system, for after a meal there is a slow expansion of the organ. In embryonic life it produces red blood cells, and in severe anemia it may take up this work again.

There is a great destruction of red blood cells in malaria, and the spleen enlarges enormously in the chronic type of this disease. Ordinarily, unless the person is quite thin, it is difficult for the physician who makes a physical examination to feel the spleen, but in chronic malaria there is no difficulty. A young doctor who wants the experience of palpating large spleens should get to the Balkans or some other place where malaria is prevalent. I have had the pleasure of palpating hundreds of 'em. Many of the natives in Albania (where I was stationed with the American Red Cross doing post-war work) who have had malaria for years, have spleens so enormous that they look as though they should be rushed to a maternity hospital immediately.

The spleen evidently is not vital to life, for it has been removed in some instances without causing death. Occasionally, like other organs of the abdomen, its ligaments may elongate and the spleen takes little excursions downward, but no positive harm can come from that. It is in the fact that these organs are more apt to do this little stunt.

Have you been told you have a floating spleen? Mrs. A. J. Don't worry about it. Build up your weight. If you don't know how, send for the pamphlet on gaining and losing weight. Enclosed a fully illustrated, stamped envelope and 10 cents stamps to cover cost of printing and handling.

Tomorrow—How Much Water?

Note—Please send in stamped, addressed envelope with requests for answers.

Mrs. Poole Honors Springer - Ebersole Wedding Party

Honoring the wedding party of Miss Suzanne Springer, and Claude David Ebersole, of Birmingham, Ala., whose marriage will be an interesting social event today, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Poole entertained at a buffet supper Friday evening at their home on Inman circle, in Ansley Park. Pink and white chrysanthemums formed the decorations for the occasion.

Miss Springer was fashioned in an arch-broad velvet, lavishly with an uneven hemline and draped front which was caught with an artistic bow. Her shoulder bouquet was of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Poole received her guests in a straight line model of black chiffon offset with accessories of gold. The guests included 35 out-of-town visitors for the wedding and the members of the wedding party.

Misses Hall Entertain at Home.

Misses Helen and Mary Frances Hall entertained Wednesday at their home on Greenwood avenue. Mrs. R. F. Hall and Mrs. Rose M. Bailey assisted in entertaining.

'ROBIN HOOD' OFFERED OVER BLUE NETWORK

"Robin Hood," Reginald De Koven's three-act comic opera based on the book by Harry B. Smith, will be presented in a special radio version as the Philco hour feature by stations of the National Broadcasting company's blue network this evening at 9 o'clock, eastern standard time (8 o'clock, central standard time).

Harold Sanford, the National Broadcasting company's light opera director, who will direct this work on the air, considers it unquestionably the best opera that De Koven ever wrote, and it remained for a long time one of the most popular American works. Mrs. Sanford is familiar with the work both as conductor and as first violin in the Bostonians' orchestra.

The radio cast will include Colin O'More as Robin Hood, a well-known comedian in the part of the sheriff of Nottingham; Doris Doe as Alan-a-Dale; Jessie Dragouette as Maid Marian; Muriel Wilson as Annabelle; Charles Robinson as Scarlett; and Norman Joffe as Little John.

Among the numbers to be mentioned the Forest song for soprano, the duet for Maid Marian and Robin Hood, "My Dream Has Come True," "When a Maiden Weeds," the interpolated number, "O, Promise Me," the choral tinkers' song, the rollicking "Brown October Ale," the Sheriff's song, and the Armorer's song. In the cuts required by the radio version all the famous and best-liked numbers are preserved.

The following stations associated with the National Broadcasting company's blue network will broadcast the Philco hour: WJZ, New York; KDKA, Pittsburgh; KYW, Chicago; WHAM, Rochester; WJR, Detroit; WJAN, Cincinnati; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul; WRAL, Baltimore; WRC, Washington; KSD, St. Louis; WOC, Davenport; WHO, Des Moines; WDAF, Kansas City; WTMJ, Milwaukee; WHAS, Louisville; WSM, Nashville; WSB, Atlanta; WSC, Memphis; WBT, Charlotte; WJAX, Jacksonville; KVOO, Bristow; WHAP, Fort Worth.

WSB PROGRAMS FOR SATURDAY

Sheldon, Jr., organ recital; 1 p. m., radio farm program; 1:30 p. m., University of Georgia program; 3 p. m., football bulletin; 6 p. m., Dr. Marion McEl Hall's weekly Sunday school lesson; 6:30 p. m., Biltmore Peerless Entertainment; 7 p. m., RCA program, NBC feature over the national network; 8 p. m., Philco program, NBC feature over the national network; 10:45 p. m., concert.

Nuns Rescue Girls.

Chicago, November 11.—(AP)—Nuns at St. Xavier academy last night led 100 girls to safety after fire started in a dust chute and threatened the building. None of the girls, between ages of 8 and 16, was injured. Three of the sisters were nearly overcome.

Among the numbers to be mentioned the Forest song for soprano, the duet for Maid Marian and Robin Hood, "My Dream Has Come True," "When a Maiden Weeds," the interpolated number, "O, Promise Me," the choral tinkers' song, the rollicking "Brown October Ale," the Sheriff's song, and the Armorer's song. In the cuts required by the radio version all the famous and best-liked numbers are preserved.

"The Quarterback" To Be Presented at Saturday Matinee

"The Quarterback," with Richard Dix, will be the feature for the children's Saturday matinee at the Howland theater. There is more to "The Quarterback" than just a football game; a real story full of delightful romance is told with Esther Ralston as the girl; others well known in the cast are: Harry Beresford, David Butler and Robert Craig.

Through the courtesy and cooperation of Mrs. Lewis Elsas, prominent Red Cross leader, the film, "Widening the Horizon," telling the story of other lands, with native costumes, will be shown. A fitting close to educational work will be the 5 ft. of a large number of story looks to the children, secured through the Atlanta P.T.A. council reading chairman, Mrs. George Price.

The attractive prologue features Mildred Stripling, of the Williams Street school, in a song and dance number. The matinee committee includes Mesdames H. G. Parks, chairman; Moreton Rollstone, prologue chairman, and J. G. Courtney, chap-erone chairman. They will be assisted by the Boy and Girl Scouts and the following members of the P.T.A. division: Mesdames Elmer Russell, D. A. Roland, W. H. Haskins, J. C. Kinsey, R. A. McDonald and Ed Brown. The matinee starts at 2:30; admission is 10 and 25 cents. Nurse maids will be admitted.

Miss Louise Fitten Honors Mrs. MacDougald.

KAPPA ALPHA PROGRAM READY; CANDLER NAMED

With the appointment Friday of Charles Howard Candler, prominent Atlanta business man, and president of Emory university, alumni of the Emory chapter of Kappa Alpha, as head of the finance committee on entertainment, plans have been completed to make the biennial Kappa Alpha fraternity convention, which will be held at the Biltmore hotel December 28 to 30, the best on record.

The announcement was made by Henry Heinz, president of the Atlanta Alumni association.

Approximately 1,000 delegates throughout the south are expected to be present at the convention and elaborate plans for entertaining the visitors have been completed by the local committee in charge.

The Kappa Alpha fraternity was organized in 1865 at Washington and Lee university, under the auspices of General Robert E. Lee, then president of the college, and is primarily southern in its scope. It has no chartered chapters north of the Mason and Dixon line, it was stated.

WILLIAM STERNE NEW STUDENT BODY HEAD AT O'KEEFE

William Sterne is the new president of the student body of O'Keefe Junior High school, it was learned Friday, following a check-up of the student votes. He defeated Eunice Duke by a margin of only 20 votes.

Elizabeth Swinford ran on the same ticket with Sterne and is the new vice president.

Student government at the junior high school is based on the United States plan of government. The technical details were worked out by Professor George Slapper, head of the social science department, and the principal, H. M. Hastings.

THE CONNOISSEUR

Mr. Van de View is horrified and very near distracted. And he's sure that something tragic is about to be enacted. For his friends have brought the children as they came to call tonight. And every time they make a move, he's paralyzed with fright.

And to sense his premonitions, anyone is surely able. When Bobby jerks a table runner off the console table. He fails to think him cunning in his knitted suit of tan. And he'd rather not have met him till he'd grown to be a man.

"Oh, darling, mustn't touch!"—the mother warns Carlotta May. While Van de View conceals his eyes and turns the other way. And listens for the smothering in a frenzy of distress—So annoyed he doesn't even see her little jersey dress.

And Jane, who's such a perfect little lady—he has heard—Is shattering his crystal ornaments without a word. In her hand-embroidered linen frock—she's really very sweet—But the wreck she's made of Van de View is shockingly complete.

Children Do Not Agree With Mr. Van de View's NervesI Have Said in My Heart

As Told by Annabelle Lee to IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON PANACEAS

"I have dropped on the most wonderful panacea for feminine ills," Mrs. Gibson, almost shouted Annabelle Lee, as she fluttered into my writing room, the other morning, looking her prettiest. "What is it, my dear? If it can give me one-half the loveliness and look of satisfaction with yourself and the world that you seem to have annexed, I want it immediately."

"Oh, I am going to hold you in suspense a little longer," she said, teasingly. "Your curiosity is not sufficiently aroused yet."

"I want you, in your own mind, before I tell you exactly what it is, to have carefully realized just what the theory means that when I tell it to you you will know at once the splendid curative properties of my prescription."

"Like all great things, it is very simple, but I am sure you will recognize its worth the moment I mention it—especially if you are a woman."

"It is first the great panacea for soul-sickness and much of our physical illness comes from illness of the soul."

"When you are down in your mind and the world seems a howling wilderness—when nothing is at all as you wish it—then try my prescription."

"If you have a cold in your head and your nose is red and your eyes are watery and the woman who faces you from the mirror doesn't please you a bit, my prescription, with a little powder for your nose, will help you immediately."

"If you feel hurt and you are bending over in crippled fashion, one dose of my cure-all for any feminine trouble, will make you walk with your smiling face up to the balmy sunshine of the spring just as you did when you were sixteen."

"If you have a slight suspicion that your husband is flirting with your best friend—and all the while down deep in your heart you must acknowledge to yourself that she is five years younger than you—do not wait a minute."

"Hug my great prescription to you—I was going to say your heart—but you do not use my prescription over your heart. It is a curative plaster that you place on quite another part of your anatomy."

"Well, anyway, when you take my prescription you will find that it also acts as absent treatment on your husband, and you will bring him to your side asking you to accompany him to the smartest restaurant in town for dinner, and unless your friend, too, has taken my cure, you will see her hiding her diminished head from your husband's suddenly opened eyes."

"Just now, when everyone is feeling the debility that comes at the end of the summer, it is absolutely imperative that every woman take my prescription, and, unlike other physicians who do not claim to work miracles, I absolutely guarantee that every woman taking it will feel very much better."

"Here it is. One dose is sufficient."

Memo: "Buy yourself a new and becoming fall hat; go forth in health and joy and sweetness and light; for nothing in the world quite fills the place in a woman's mind and gives her the contentment that comes to her when she looks in the mirror and finds there a smiling woman with a new fall hat above her head."

WIDOW GETS BULK OF DAVIS ESTATE

The will of the late Silas W. Davis, Atlanta investment broker, has been probated in common form in the office of Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary, according to announcement Friday. No estimate or appraisal of the estate was made.

Mrs. Aurelia Lampton Davis, widow, and the Fourth National bank, are named as executors and the law firm of Dorsey, Shelton and Dorsey, as attorneys.

A bequest of $5,000 was left to Elizabeth H. Plumb, who was Mr. Davis' former secretary, and the residue of the estate goes to his widow.

There is a later paragraph giving Mrs. Davis $35,000 in lieu of her other interests, in the event she marries again.

The remainder of the estate is to be divided equally between the five children, each child to receive one-half of the inheritance when they become of age and the other half when they reach the age of 25. The children are Mary Aurelia Davis, Silas Woodward Davis, Jr., Zias Duncan Davis,

Idolo Lampton Davis and John Youngkin Davis.

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA PETITION IS DENIED

The Georgia public service commission has denied petitions of the Central of Georgia railway for discontinuance of freight and passenger agencies at Hilton and Geneva.

Authority was given the A. B. C. railroad to move its station at Brownstown 200 yards south of the present location. The move was asked by citizens of Brownstown.

NEGRO INDICTED FOR AUTO THEFT AND BURGLARY

William Clark, negro, arrested Thursday morning by county police while asleep in an automobile on Pace's Ferry road, was indicted Friday afternoon by the Fulton county grand jury on a charge of stealing the automobile and burglary.

The negro is said to have confessed that he burglarized the home of Mrs. Clara McCullough, of 3330 Peachtree road, from which he stole articles of clothing valued at $41.50, and the machine in which he was found.

The negro told county police that he gained entrance into the McCullough home by use of a skeleton key, and that he was surprised and fled when Mrs. McCullough's son appeared on the scene.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER

Athens, Ga., November 11.—(P)—The body of Mrs. C. W. Greene, of this city, was found in the Oconee river near a bridge here today.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict that she came to her death by drowning.

Mrs. Greene, who was 53 years old, lived at a local hotel and it is said that she left her room Thursday apparently to take a walk, and later in the evening when she did not return to her room a search was made for her.

The body, fully clothed, was found this morning protruding partly from the water of the river. There were no marks of violence on the body, it was said.

Mrs. Greene before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Smith, of Washington, D. C., and was a relative of the late James M. Smith, of Atlanta. She had three children, two sons, John and William, and one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Smith, of Athens, and Zola Smith, of Lakeland, Fla., and two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Mitchell and Mrs. M. L. Weller, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be conducted here Sunday, it is announced.

"Dartmouth night" was celebrated in Atlanta Friday evening with a banquet at the Atlanta-Biltmore, assembling alumni of the college residing in the state. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Dartmouth Club of Georgia, which was held at the Atlanta-Biltmore.

C. E. Palmer and F. S. Porham, both prominent in Atlanta business circles, were named president and secretary, respectively.

At the same time as the banquet, groups all over the world of graduates of the New England college gathered and a monster celebration took place on the campus of Dartmouth, in Hanover, N. H.

Dartmouth green was used as the decorations for the banquet, which was held at 7 o'clock in one of the private dining rooms of the Biltmore. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a motion picture depicting winter sports and other Dartmouth activities. Henry Bickman, assistant football coach at Tech and a former all-American star at Dartmouth, explained the pictures. During the evening election of officers for the coming year was held.

Thursday and Saturday morning, the White Eagle Oil company, Isadore Heyman, H. T. McGee and Lillie Starks.

Court was adjourned for several minutes while deputy sheriffs sought and brought in several of the absentees.

The witnesses filed Friday were: C. E. Palmer, F. S. Porham, Isadore Heyman, H. T. McGee and Lillie Starks.

Low, manager of the Atlanta-Biltmore, got off the Crescent limited at the terminal station last night. Having talked with him, it seemed that he would be in the city for a few days, but he had been away out of town to Brookwood.

"Caught him in the waiting room," said Low, "and he came back." "Just in from New York," he answered. "He came back, yes, but he left Thursday, back home today."

Further conversation—of course about local matters—developed that the trip, even though brief, was far from unproductive.

For one thing, Low broke the news that there is going to be an important production company installed at the Atlanta-Biltmore next summer, as soon as the new building is ready. He wouldn't mention names, but said two famous stars of international fame, would head the organization, that he produced on the most elaborate scale, to staging, costumes, settings, etc., and that at least two plays would be staged here for the first time on any stage.

"It will be, without doubt, the greatest organization of its kind in any city," he said. "I have added the important fact that the top price seats will be sold at $100."

United News.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson unveiled a plaque of her husband, the world war president, in the City Center building today as the chief ceremony of Pittsburgh's observance of Armistice day.

Although it had been announced that Mrs. Wilson would speak at the ceremony, she unveiled the plaque without comment.

Mrs. Wilson heard Woodrow Wilson, who was in the city, designated by the Armistice day committee to save the world from Germany.

Former husband of Fifi Widener marries again.

New York, November 11.—The marriage of Mrs. Marjorie E. Woodrow Wilson, nee Woodrow, to Ralph Lewis, Philadelphia broker and divorced husband of Fifi Widener, was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis. The ceremony took place at the New York City hall, where the bride and groom were married.

Mrs. Woodrow was up for school director in the town of Hyde Park, N. Y., where she had been for several years. She was returned to Hyde Park, N. Y., where she had been for several years. She was returned to Hyde Park, N. Y., where she had been for several years.

William James, farm congress leader, is dead.

St. Joseph, Mo., November 11.—(P)—William K. James, 75, president of the American farm congress, died at his home here today. He had been ill for some time.

James was serving his second term as head of the American farm congress, which is incorporated as a research and educational organization, providing a forum for representatives of all branches of agriculture.

He was a pioneer resident here and owned a farm north of St. Joseph. For years he was active in democratic politics in Missouri. He served as district judge and was in the legislature several terms.

Two hundred and seventy-nine buildings in the 19 counties affected by the flood were destroyed and 1,347 buildings were damaged, reports received from the Red Cross.

A total of 6,497 refugees have received assistance from Red Cross workers.

Funeral Plans for thousands of Georgia turkeys in making

Bureau of Markets Plans Shipment of Thanksgiving Birds to the Georgia Turkeys in Making

Funeral arrangements for thousands of Georgia turkeys are being made by the bureau of markets of the state department of agriculture.

The great movement of Georgia's penultimate turkeys to the Thanksgiving day tables of Georgia and many other states of the union is to begin in real fashion next week.

Ten carloads of poultry, of which turkeys will constitute a major part, will begin moving from various points in the state November 14.

The first carload is to be loaded at the following points: Parrott, November 14; Dawson, November 15; Rockwell, November 16; Glenwood, November 17; another car will be loaded at Dublin and Whitesville on November 15 and 16, and Clayton on November 17 will contribute their share to another car which is to be completed at Clarksville on November 15 and 16, and another car will be loaded at Thomson, November 16; Crawfordsville, November 16; Greenville, November 16, and Social Circle, November 17; another at West Point and LaGrange on November 16; at the following points: Rogers, November 14; another at Rogers, November 14, 15, 16 and 17, respectively; another at Blakely, Arlington and Edison on November 17, 18 and 19; another at Hartwell, Eversville, Martin and Toccoa on November 16, 17 and 18; another at Washington, Madison, Covington and Conyers, November 15, 16 and 17; another at Parrott, Dawson, Rockwell, Rochelle and Glenwood, November 14, 15, 16 and 17; another at Cordele, Milan, Alley, Jones and Collins, November 15, 16 and 17.

The cars will begin moving at the first points named, and will proceed to the other points in the order named, taking on local offerings at each point. Representatives of the state bureau of markets will accompany the cars en route to aid in selection and grading of fowls.

E. H. Kinnebrew of the bureau of markets says some of the birds will be shipped to eastern markets and to points in Georgia and near-by states.

Bids have been asked by the bureau of markets for the turkeys.

New York, November 11.—(Barr)—Favorable trade news formed the basis for a sharp upturn in prices in today's market. In Societal, the interest was widely distributed, final quotations disclosing a long list of net gains ranging from 1 to nearly 13 points. Trading, however, was only fair. In American, Societal and sales falling well below 2,000,000 shares.

The bullish effect of $2.50 extra cash dividend on General Motors yesterday was supplemented by an optimistic forecast by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the corporation, on his return from Europe today. The stock advanced 2 1/2 points, finishing 131 1/2 after having fallen to 128 1/2 on early profit-taking. The announcement of higher steel prices by two of the leading subsidiaries of up more than 4 points at the expense of an overcrowded short interest. International Harvester closed 12 1/2 points higher at 236 1/2 after having duplicated the year's high of 237.

Lago Oil was run up nearly 3 points to a new high record at 36 1/4 on news of accumulation by large financial interests. The bulk of this stock is owned by the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Co., which is the largest American oil company. American operations on Lago's Venezuelan properties.

Strength of the mercantile and mail order business based on expectations of heavy holiday trade, new prices being established by May Department stores, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck, Woolworth, Unions Union, and Aronson and Blumenthal Bros. Other issues to break into high ground were American Can, Victor Talking Machine, Corn Products, and International Match, preferred.

Southern Railway touched another high record for all time above 140 and gained 3 points on reports of share, of this point were two shares on the theory that orders, delayed by the long period of declining prices, would start in large volume when it became apparent that the bottom had been reached. U. S. Steel common closed 15.8 points higher at 47.75.

1937 1-1, after having sold 2 points below that figure.

The increase of nearly $13,000,000 in broken bolls reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank has no appreciable market influence. Call money continued in plentiful supply at 12 1/2 to 13 per cent. The gasoline shortage was apparent for the shorter time natures.
